Even Ford Candidacy Subject of Protest

A protest has been filed with the Pickaway County Board of Elections against the Democratic candidacy of Evan P. Ford for Common Pleas Judge in Pickaway County.

The protest may involve testimony by Gov. C. William O'Neill, and three prominent Pickaway County Republicans.

The protest was filed by Elmer T. Runkle, Nicholas Drive, a member of the Democratic Party.

Runkle, in his petition, states that Ford is not a qualified elector of Madison Twp. in Pickaway County as stated in Ford's declaration of candidacy, but that he is an elector of Precinct D, Ward 16 in the City of Columbus.

He goes on to state that Ford's post office address is not Route 1, Ashville, as stated in his petition of candidacy, but it is 1834 N. 4th St., Columbus. Runkle states that Ford's voting residence is not Madison Twp., as stated in his declaration of candidacy but is Ward 16 Precinct D in Columbus.

Runkle finally states that Ford is not residing in Pickaway County as is required as a qualification for said office by Section 2301.01 of the Revised Code of Ohio.

THE PROTEST requested that a hearing be set, with proper notices, and that Ford's candidacy be declared invalid and be rejected.

As required by law a protest against any declaration of candidacy must be filed 80 days before the primary, which in this case was Saturday, the day the protest was filed.

The law further states that a protest must be filed by a member of the same political party. Upon receipt of the protest the board of elections must promptly fix a time for the hearing and shall mail notice of the hearing to the person whose candidacy is being protested and to the person who filed the protest.

In the course of the hearing if the four-member two-party board splits its vote then the Secretary of State will cast the deciding vote.

Ford stated that he was informed of the protest by a neighbor and as yet hadn't received his

Tunisia Debate Seen Averted

U.N. Expected To Hand Issue to Private Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U.S.-British offer of "good offices" to help solve the French-Tunisian dispute was expected to bring a speedy suspension to U.N. Security Council debate today on the charges growing out of the French bombing in Tunisia.

Although both France and Tunisia accepted the British-American offer, neither made a move to avert the Council meeting scheduled after Tunisia complained to the U.N. and the French filed a countercharge.

However, diplomats both at the U.N. and in London were confident both nations would now try to avoid a bitter debate which the Communists could exploit.

These sources predicted each nation would make a restrained statement explaining its charges, and that the necessary 7 of 11 Council members then would be mustered to adjourn the debate, giving the good offices a chance to work.

U. S. officials in Washington said they would offer "concrete suggestions and proposals" on outstanding problems between France and her former colony.

INSTEAD OF a single conference bringing both sides together, a coordinated diplomatic drive will be made in Paris and Tunis.

Tunisia requested the Security Council meeting to consider her charge of French aggression in attacking Sakiet Sidi Youssef Feb. 8, killing 79 men, women and children.

France countercharged that Tunisia is sheltering rebels who have been in revolt in neighboring Algeria for more than three years. France said the Sakiet alraid was directed against rebels who had attacked French forces in Algeria from the village.

Tunisia used the French countercharge as the basis of a letter Monday to Council President Arkady A. Sobolev of the Soviet Union declaring the Algerian revolt should be considered an international problem.

Fire in Logan Sweeps Pair Of Buildings

LOGAN (AP)—Using blow torches to loosen frozen hydrant and pumper truck valves, firemen worked to completely extinguish a stubborn fire which destroyed two downtown buildings early today.

Firemen from Logan, Lancaster, Crooksville, Sugar Grove, Malta, McConnellsville, Nelsonville and Bremen battled the blaze in freezing temperatures during the early morning darkness. Civil Defense units from Athens and Jackson also were at the scene.

Firemen said the Johnson Building, housing the J. C. Penney store, a dentist's office, auto supply warehouse, Moose lodge and credit bureau, and the Factory Outlet store, were destroyed. Both were two-story buildings, owned by Theodore Johnson and Anthony Thomas of Logan, respectively.

Damage was tentatively estimated at a half million dollars.

The fire was discovered by Miss Rosie Malone who saw flames around a gas heater in an upstairs apartment of the Johnson Building. She awakened Mrs. Donna Pittman, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shelton from another apartment.

No injuries were reported.

Thieves Hit Derby Store Second Time

A second burglary within two weeks at Conley's Service Station, Derby, resulted in the theft of an estimated $74 in cash and merchandise the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department reported today.

Deputies said the burglary apparently was during the weekend. It was reported to the local office yesterday.

Deputy Robert Hoover said the loot included about $5 in change from a cash register and chewing gum and pin ball machines.

Merchandise included one shot gun, three boxes of shot gun shells, 10 boxes of rifle shells, three flashlight batteries, three cigarette lighters, one billfold, six cartons of cigarettes and four pairs of gloves.

HOOPER said entry was gained by breaking a rear window after the intruders apparently failed to force a rear door.

About two weeks ago two Columbus men were apprehended in connection with a burglary at the station. The men involved are Franklin D. Booth, 24, and Charles V. Sexton, 19. They were bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury under $2,000 each.

According to Deputy Dwight Radcliff, extensive questioning of the pair revealed they also were involved in at least six burglaries in Franklin County this month.

Five wreaths were placed Monday on the grave shared by 14 unidentified victims of the Katie Jane nursing home fire, in which 72 persons perished.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Walter H. Schwane.

Another Look Pledged Later

Ike Aides Expecting Upturn by Midyear

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders of Congress agreed with President Eisenhower's key Cabinet officers today that it "would not be wise" to cut taxes now as a business stimulant.

Following a breakfast conference at the White House, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told reporters the decision was "of course subject to review" before Congress adjourns in late July or early August.

Tax reduction was the subject of "round table discussion." Knowland said, along with the question whether the government should launch a major public works program to counter the current recession.

Both the administration chiefs and the minority Congress members agreed, Knowland said, that unemployment will start declining in March and business will turn up fairly soon thereafter without artificial stimulus.

But Knowland added:

"If the anticipated improvement did not take place before midyear when Congress nears adjournment, public works would get serious consideration."

The congressional delegation, headed by Knowland and Rep. Martin (R-Mass), House minority leader, got a briefing on the economic outlook from Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of Labor Mitchell.

Proposals to set a tax reduction in motion, Knowland said, would be unwise at this time "because of heavy government obligations and the importance of not increasing greatly our national debt."

Knowland cited several government programs which will be "furnishing a beneficial stimulus to the economy."

The programs, all previously recommended to Congress by President Eisenhower or already in operation, included a postoffice construction program, highway building, measures to ease housing credit, stepped-up military spending and credit liberalizing measures of the Federal Reserve Board.

The government measures so far taken cannot be considered "pump-priming," Knowland contended, because they are "constructive in nature and will bring a beneficial chain reaction."

Red Aides Planted On Kidnap Airliner

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—South Korean police said today they had evidence at least seven Communist agents boarded the commercial airliner which flew to Red North Korea Sunday.

The police statement came after a North Korean newsman covering a U. N. Truce Commission meeting at Panmunjom hinted that a fight took place aboard the plane before it bypassed Seoul and landed in Communist territory.

The Communist newsman told South Korean reporters some of the 34 persons aboard the plane were wounded and receiving medical treatment. The plane was piloted by two Americans.

The Communists at the Panmunjom meeting rejected the U. N. Command's demand for return of the airliner and the occupants. The Reds insisted on direct negotiation with President Syngman Rhee's South Korean government.

SOUTH KOREAN police said they believed the seven Communist agents, including two women, seized the Pusan-to-Seoul plane at gunpoint. They discounted speculation that the Communists wanted to kidnap any of the passengers. The agents are former war prison-

Frigid Temperatures Close Two Schools

Cold weather today forced two Pickaway County schools to close and prompted the local Ohio Fuel Gas Co. to order at least five Circleville business concerns to curtail use of gas.

According to the weatherman not much relief is in sight here. His prediction calls for continued cloudy and cold tonight and tomorrow along with occasional snow flurries.

Meanwhile, Circleville struggled its 11th straight day of below freezing temperature. The last reading above the freezing point was a "warm" 40 degrees, recorded here February 6.

Old timers and local weather experts say this marks the longest cold spell here in many years. Others say it breaks all records.

THE LOCAL weather station reported last night's low squarely on the zero mark, although to many it seemed colder than Suda y night's record four degrees below zero.

The low tonight is expected to range from zero to eight above. Although this represents a slight climb upward, it still is a slow moderation.

This brisk outlook here has brought many complaints of frozen water pipes, drains and cars along with the almost impossible task of keeping homes warm.

Most local streets and main highways were clear today although side streets and back roads remained hazardous. Other than minor fender benders, no serious auto accidents were reported today by Circleville Police and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Despite numerous heating difficulties, all Circleville schools remained open today. However, Muhlenburg and Perry Twp.

Schools were closed due to heating problems. Scioto Twp. closed yesterday when a water pipe froze and burst causing a furnace room to flood.

Five Circleville business concerns have been affected by the

Weatherman Spins Tales

Humor and Pathos Come Out of Storm

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weatherman, having a gay old time with frigid temperatures and record snowfalls, is continuing to produce some interesting situations. Here are some things that happened Monday.

Even when a record blizzard paralyzed their home community, some Indiana boys found that it could bring an interesting adventure.

A group of 22 Boy Scouts and 6 adult leaders from East Chicago were airlifted from a snowbound campsite Monday by an Army helicopter. They were stranded seven miles south of Michigan City where snow drifts measured up to 15 feet.

But things were not very gay in East Orange, N. J.

About 500 motorists who finally dug their autos out of the mounds left by the weekend's record snowstorm found tickets for overtime parking on their windshields.

OTHER communities in the area and even nearby New York City had waived parking restrictions during the storm, which left 13.3 inches of snow on the ground.

But Police Chief John F. McGinty of the New Jersey town told the irate motorists: "We don't make exceptions, regardless of the weather."

Down in West Palm Beach, Fla., Raymond Christenbury, 11, saw snow Monday for the first time—right on his front porch.

Frank Poleck, a family friend, arrived on a visit from Fulton, N. Y.

Hostage of Thugs Loses His Idle Pay To Gobbledegook

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP)—Tom Garrett can't draw his $40 unemployment insurance check for last week because he got tied up at home Friday.

He was tied up—for real—by two men who escaped from jail in San Luis Obispo and used his house 24 hours as a hideout. They're still loose.

Garrett, 21, unemployed aircraft worker, went to the State Employment Service office to pick up his check Monday.

Nothing doing, he was told. An office spokesman said an unemployed worker must be available for work "every day of the normal work week" to be eligible for jobless pay. If Garrett couldn't leave the house, the spokesman said, he was unavailable.

Ohio Fuel Gas Co.'s order to curtail use of gas.

HOWEVER, no one has been sent home and producing is holding at normal levels.

Both General Electric and Du Pont plants were asked to halt space heating by gas and chop production gas use by 25 per cent. Also asked to cut gas use of 25 per cent were J. W. Eschelman and Sons, Ralston Purina and Fred Moeller greenhouse.

In every case, auxiliary fuels have been called into play to allow reduction of gas use without curtailing plant production.

Harry Metier, local gas official, said he hoped the curtailment on gas use here would be lifted later today. He pointed out that Circleville is on a main line running from a Sugar Grove, (Fairfield County) pressure station.

Metier declared that there has never been a shortage of gas here except of the "planned" variety, which means that the Circleville area is asked to cut down on gas use so that other areas might have more.

Ervin Leist, manager of public utilities for the city, today said his office has been "swamped" by calls from distressed homeowners. He declared $600 calls have been answered in the last two days, all from home owners whose residence water pipes have been frozen.

LEIST gave some pointers on how to cut down on expensive plumbing bills. He suggested keeping one water outlet open enough to keep water coursing through pipes. "Allow a little water to run at all times," he explained.

Leist also suggested pouring about a cupful of permanent antifreeze in toilet bowls where necessary. "Plug all basement air leaks," he cautioned.

The utilities boss also issued a warning. He said the frost will go even deeper at the first thaw. Leist called on home owners to be especially careful then.

North Indiana Is Smacked by New Blizzard

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new blizzard that left as much as 20 inches of additional snow in some sections hit northern Indiana Monday night, adding woes to the already snow-plagued Lake Michigan area.

South Bend was left with nearly 35 inches of snow. Michigan City, already covered with an estimated 54 inches, reported a little more during the night.

The Weather Bureau forecast more snow for the lake area today but predicted it would diminish to flurries by Wednesday.

South Bend stores closed early for the first time in 20 years.

Most industry remained closed in Michigan City. Workers couldn't find room to dump snow removed from clogged streets.

Schools in South Bend and most of St. Joseph County were added to the closed list. Other schools are closed throughout the heavy snow belt from Chesterton, 10 miles southwest of Michigan City, to Rolling Prairie, 15 miles to the east.

Winter's Icy Grip To Ease Late in Week

Today's Mercury Readings Show Slight Climb

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's cold, it has been cold and it will continue to be cold, at least until after Thursday.

The only hint of a possible break in weather that has been sending temperatures down below zero throughout the state is the Weather Bureau's report that, after Thursday, temperatures "may moderate slightly."

A 9-year-old Hancock County boy froze to death. The body of James A. Shumaker of Rawson was found in a snowbank near his home by a search party Monday night. The search was started when James failed to return home after a play period in a woods near his home.

Gas meters in Ohio were measuring out fuel at a record clip. Ohio Fuel Gas Co., which serves 59 of Ohio's 88 counties, pumped nearly two billion cubic feet of gas in the 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. today. That is nearly 200 million feet above its previous one-day mark.

This morning's low temperatures were slightly above Monday morning's lows. Akron appreciated an even zero, 10 degrees above its Monday low. Dayton had a 3 below today and Cincinnati 1 below. It was 1 above at Columbus, 3 above at Toledo and 4 above at Cleveland.

The frigid blast is beginning to take its toll on Ohio's commerce, industry and education.

Monday, the U. S. Corps of Engineers warned all boats on the Ohio River to head for shelter. Sub-zero weather had created hazardous ice conditions.

An Engineers' spokesman at Huntington, W. Va., said it looks like the worst situation on the river since 1939.

Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., U.S. Engineer for the Ohio River Division, said: "Ice conditions in the Ohio River are bad and will get worse within the next 48 hours."

EARLY REPORTS indicate ice from a half inch to three inches from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill.

Drifting snow has closed all north and south primary and secondary roads in Ashtabula County, the Ohio Department of Highways reported today.

Road crews are managing to keep roads in other areas open but drifting and slippery spots are reported in some northern and eastern sections. Heavy drifting is reported in the Jefferson area.

There is some drifting and slippery spots north of a line through Greenville, Troy, Springfield, Marysville, Mount Gilead, Millersburg, New Philadelphia, and St. Clairsville, the department said.

Highways are slippery in spots south and east of a line through Coshocton, Zanesville, Logan, McArthur and Portsmouth as well as in the Dayton area.

Gas companies began using clauses in their contracts with industrial users to call on the users to curtail use of gas. The gas companies said it enabled them to

Bids Opened On 3 Parts Of Freeway

COLUMBUS (AP)—Bids were opened today for three sections of the Cincinnati to Conneaut Freeway. After the Ohio Department of Highways awards contracts, about 80 miles of the freeway will be under construction.

Total value of all the projects for which bids were opened is about $20 million.

The apparent low bid of $3,836,043 for building 3.5 miles of the freeway in Ashtabula County was submitted by Harrison Construction Co. of Pittsburgh. The estimate was $4,178,400. The section begins four-tenths of one mile west of Ohio 7 and ends at the Pennsylvania border, where it will join the Pennsylvania extension of the New York Turnpike.

Bids were opened on the first section of the freeway south of Columbus, a 5.5 mile stretch in Franklin County, beginning near White Road and ending just south of White Road. The apparent low bid of $2,973,521 was submitted by Heffner Construction Co. of Celina. The estimate was $3,265,900.

The third freeway section was a 4.4-mile stretch in Medina County, from just south of Twp. Road 57 to just beyond Ohio 3. It will link two freeway sections now under construction and include seven bridges.

The apparent low bid of $5,951,731 was submitted by A. J. Baltes Co., of Norwalk. The estimate was $6,183,200.

Cloudy and continued cold with occasional snow flurries tonight and tomorrow. Low tonight zero to eight above. High Wednesday 14-20. Yesterday's high, 11; low 6. High year ago 38; low 23.

Evan Ford Candidacy Subject of Protest

A protest has been filed with the Pickaway County Board of Elections against the Democratic candidacy of Evan P. Ford for Common Pleas Judge in Pickaway County.

The protest may involve testimony by Gov. C. William O'Neill, and three prominent Pickaway County Republicans.

The protest was filed by Elmer T. Runkle, Nicholas Drive, a member of the Democratic Party.

Runkle, in his petition, states that Ford is not a qualified elector of Madison Twp. in Pickaway County as stated in Ford's declaration of candidacy, but that he is an elector of Precinct D, Ward 16 in the City of Columbus.

He goes on to state that Ford's post office address is not Route 1, Ashville, as stated in his petition of candidacy, but it is 1834 N. 4th St., Columbus. Runkle states that Ford's voting residence is not Madison Twp., as stated in his declaration of candidacy but is Ward 16 Precinct D in Columbus.

Runkle finally states that Ford is not residing in Pickaway County as is required as a qualification for said office by Section 2301.01 of the Revised Code of Ohio.

THE PROTEST requested that a hearing be set, with proper notices, and that Ford's candidacy be declared invalid and be rejected.

As required by law a protest against any declaration of candidacy must be filed 80 days before the primary, which in this case was Saturday, the day the protest was filed.

Sheet Metal Union Accused Of Boycotting

CLEVELAND (AP)—Officials of the Sheet Metal Workers Union have been ordered into Federal Court to give an accounting of an alleged boycott of ventilating equipment made by Burt Manufacturing Co. of Akron.

The Sheet Metal Workers have refused to install Burt equipment as the result of a jurisdictional dispute with the United Steelworkers Union, the National Labor Relations Board charged in a petition filed in U. S. District Court here Monday.

Rival claims for organizational rights at the Burt plant have been the source of a 12-year dispute between Sheet Metal Workers and the Steelworkers Union, which represents employees at the plant.

The NLRB has asked Judge Paul C. Weick to enjoin the Sheet Metal Workers International Assn. and four Ohio locals from their alleged refusal to install Burt equipment. The AFL-CIO executive board ordered the boycott stopped and last week submitted the jurisdictional dispute to an umpire for a recommended solution.

Judge Weick ordered officers of the union to answer the NLRB charges by March 5. A show-cause hearing when the union may answer the NLRB petition was set for March 11. The action was started under provisions of the Taft-Hartley law banning boycotts.

The Communist newsman told South Korean reporters some of the 34 persons aboard the plane were wounded and receiving medical treatment. The plane was piloted by two Americans.

The Communists at the Panmunjom meeting rejected the U. N. Command's demand for return of the airliner and the occupants. The Reds insisted on direct negotiation with President Syngman Rhee's South Korean government.

SOUTH KOREAN police said they believed the seven Communist agents, including two women, seized the Pusan-to-Seoul plane at gunpoint. They discounted speculation that the Communists wanted to kidnap any of the passengers. The agents are former war prisoners who were released in 1953 but did not return North.

The police said the plot to seize the plane apparently was masterminded by Kim Hyung, 34. He boarded the plane at Pusan with his 21-year-old wife and their baby, giving a Seoul address.

At Panmunjom, South Korean Ministry official termed "impossible" the Reds' demand for direct negotiations with the Rhee government for return of the plane. South Korea did not sign the armistice agreement suspending the Korean War and has refused to recognize the Communist regime.

Col. Kim Joon Kyung of North Korea claimed at the secretariat meeting that those aboard the plane had "defected because they could not stand any more of the U. S. aggressive policy against South Korea." Kim said the issue was not a proper subject for consideration by the armistice commission set up to police the truce.

U. S. Navy Capt. George W. Kehl, the U. N. member of the secretariat, termed the Communist explanation of the plane's flight north "utterly fantastic." He asserted that "since one or more Communist agents" kidnaped the plane and its passengers, the issue was a proper

Frigid Temperatures Close Two Schools

Cold weather today forced two Pickaway County schools to close and prompted the local Ohio Fuel Gas Co. to order at least five Circleville business concerns to curtail use of gas.

According to the weatherman not much relief is in sight here. His prediction calls for continued cloudy and cold tonight and tomorrow along with occasional snow flurries.

Meanwhile, Circleville struggled its 11th straight day of below freezing temperature. The last reading above the freezing point was a "warm" 40 degrees, recorded here February 6.

Old timers and local weather experts say this marks the longest cold spell here in many years. Others say it breaks all records.

THE LOCAL weather station reported last night's low squarely on the zero mark, although to many it seemed colder than Sunday night's record four degrees below zero.

The low tonight is expected to range from zero to eight above. Although this represents a slight climb upward, it still is a slow moderation.

This brisk outlook here has brought many complaints of frozen water pipes, drains and cars along with the almost impossible task of keeping homes warm.

Most local streets and main highways were clear today although side streets and back roads remained hazardous. Other than minor fender benders, no serious auto accidents were reported today by Circleville Police and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Despite numerous heating difficulties, all Circleville schools remained open today. However, Muhlenburg and Perry Twp.

Weatherman Spins Tales

Humor and Pathos Come Out of Storm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weatherman, having a gay old time with frigid temperatures and record snowfalls, is continuing to produce some interesting situations. Here are some things that happened Monday.

Even when a record blizzard paralyzed their home community, some Indiana boys found that it could bring an interesting adventure.

A group of 22 Boy Scouts and 6 adult leaders from East Chicago were airlifted from a snowbound campsite Monday by an Army helicopter. They were stranded seven miles south of Michigan City where snow drifts measured up to 15 feet.

But things were not very gay in East Orange, N. J. About 500 motorists who finally dug their autos out of the mounds left by the weekend's record snowstorm found tickets for overtime parking on their windshields.

OTHER communities in the area and even nearby New York City had waived parking restrictions during the storm, which left 13.3 inches of snow on the ground.

But Police Chief John F. McGinty of the New Jersey town told the irate motorists: "We don't make exceptions, regardless of the weather."

Down in West Palm Beach, Fla., Raymond Christenbury, 11, saw snow Monday for the first time—right on his front porch.

Frank Poleck, a family friend, arrived on a visit from Fulton, N. Y.

Hostage of Thugs Loses His Idle Pay To Gobbledegook

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP)—Tom Garrett can't draw his $40 unemployment insurance check for last week because he got tied up at home Friday.

He was tied up—for real—by two men who escaped from jail in San Luis Obispo and used his house 24 hours as a hideout. They're still loose.

Garrett, 21, unemployed aircraft worker, went to the State Employment Service office to pick up his check Monday.

Nothing doing, he was told. An office spokesman said an unemployed worker must be available for work "every day of the normal work week" to be eligible for jobless pay. If Garrett couldn't leave the house, the spokesman said, he was unavailable.

Schools in South Bend and most of St. Joseph County were added to the closed list. Other schools are closed throughout the heavy snow belt from Chesterton, 10 miles southwest of Michigan City, to Rolling Prairie, 15 miles to the east.

Winter's Icy Grip To Ease Late in Week

Today's Mercury Readings Show Slight Climb

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's cold, it has been cold and it will continue to be cold, at least until after Thursday.

The only hint of a possible break in weather that has been sending temperatures down below zero throughout the state is the Weather Bureau's report that, after Thursday, temperatures "may moderate slightly."

A 9-year-old Hancock County boy froze to death. The body of James A. Shumaker of Rawson was found in a snowbank near his home by a search party Monday night. The search was started when James failed to return home after a play period in a woods near his home.

Gas meters in Ohio were measuring out fuel at a record clip. Ohio Fuel Gas Co., which serves 59 of Ohio's 88 counties, pumped nearly two billion cubic feet of gas in the 24-hour period which ended at 8 a. m. today. That is nearly 200 million feet above is previous one-day mark.

This morning's low temperatures were slightly above Monday morning's lows. Akron appreciated an even zero, 10 degrees above its Monday low. Dayton had a 3 below today and Cincinnati 1 below. It was 1 above at Columbus, 3 above at Toledo and 4 above at Cleveland.

The frigid blast is beginning to take its toll on Ohio's commerce, industry and education.

Monday, the U. S. Corps of Engineers warned all boats on the Ohio River to head for shelter. Sub-zero weather had created hazardous ice conditions.

An Engineers' spokesman at Huntington, W. Va., said it looks like the worst situation on the river since 1939.

Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., U. S. Engineer for the Ohio River, Division, said: "Ice conditions in the Ohio River are bad and will get worse within the next 48 hours."

EARLY REPORTS indicate ice from a half inch to three inches from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill.

Drifting snow has closed all north and south primary and secondary roads in Ashtabula County, the Ohio Department of Highways reported today.

Road crews are managing to keep roads in other areas open but drifting and slippery spots are reported in some northern and eastern sections. Heavy drifting is reported in the Jefferson area.

There is some drifting and slippery spots north of a line through Greenville, Troy, Springfield, Marysville, Mount Gilead, Millersburg, New Philadelphia and St. Clairsville, the department said.

Highways are slippery in spots south and east of a line through Coshocton, Zanesville, Logan, McArthur and Portsmouth as well as in the Dayton area.

Bids Opened On 3 Parts Of Freeway

COLUMBUS (AP)—Bids were opened today for three sections of the Cincinnati to Conneaut Freeway. After the Ohio Department of Highways awards contracts, about 80 miles of the freeway will be under construction.

Total value of all the projects for which bids were opened is about $20 million.

The apparent low bid of $3,836,043 for building 3.5 miles of the freeway in Ashtabula County was submitted by Harrison Construction Co. of Pittsburgh. The estimate was $4,178,400. The section begins four-tenths of one mile west of Ohio 7 and ends at the Pennsylvania border, where it will join the Pennsylvania extension of the New York Thruway.

Bids were opened on the first section of the freeway south of Columbus, a 5.5 mile stretch in Franklin County, beginning near Harrisburg and ending just south of White Road. The apparent low bid of $2,973,521 was submitted by Heffner Construction Co. of Colina. The estimate was $3,265,900.

The third freeway section was a 4.4-mile stretch in Medina County, from just south of Twp. Road 57 to just beyond Ohio 3. It will link two freeway sections now under construction and include seven bridges.

The apparent low bid of $5,981,731 was submitted by A. J. Barco Co. of Norwalk. The estimate was $6,183,200.

North Indiana Is Smacked by New Blizzard

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new blizzard that left as much as 20 inches of additional snow in some sections hit northern Indiana Monday night, adding woes to the already snow-plagued Lake Michigan area.

South Bend was left with nearly 35 inches of snow. Michigan City, already covered with an estimated 54 inches, reported a little more during the night.

The Weather Bureau forecast more snow for the lake area today but predicted it would diminish to flurries by Wednesday.

South Bend stores closed early for the first time in 20 years. Most industry remained closed in Michigan City. Workers couldn't find room to dump snow removed from clogged streets.

Schools in South Bend and most of St. Joseph County were added to the closed list. Other schools are closed throughout the heavy snow belt from Chesterton, 10 miles southwest of Michigan City, to Rolling Prairie, 15 miles to the east.

Stock Mart Trading Very Slow Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market drifted off slightly in very slow trading early this afternoon. The blizzard in the eastern United States and subfreezing temperatures caused continued absenteeism in financial quarters. Key stocks showed many fractional declines. There were a few gainers. Losses were kept generally within a point.

A slightly lower trend was shown by motors, rails, coppers, oils and building materials.

Steels and radio televisions were generally higher.

American Telephone reported earnings which made it the biggest corporate money earner and the stock was up a fraction. General Motors was firm as its per share earnings showed a slight drop from the year ago figure.

U. S. Steel added a point and other major steels were firm as the industry's output rate was scheduled a bit higher this week.

U. S. government bonds were steady to a shade lower.

Detroit Speeder Gets $15 Fine

The Circleville Municipal Court docket today listed two motorists fined for traffic violations.

Ronald R. Battiatto, 21, Detroit, Mich., was fined $15 and costs for speeding at 75 miles per hour. He was arrested by the State Highway Patrol.

Donald E. Stump, 23, Route 4, Newark, paid $10 and costs for passing a red light. He was cited by local police.

have sufficient gas on hand for home use.

Ohio Fuel Gas Co. first asked 603 industrial and commercial customers in 59 counties to switch to an alternate fuel and then later Monday asked 328 big industrial customers to curtail their total use of gas by 25 per cent.

Schools were closing throughout the state. The total is well above the 100 mark. Icy roads and the shortage of heating gas were the chief causes for the holiday.

Bitter cold continued to hold much of the nation in an icy grasp, disrupting transportation and stalling a vast snow removal job in the eastern U. S.

Forecasts seemed to bar any hope of early help for the Atlantic Seaboard, still trying to dig out from a weekend near-blizzard which struck from Mississippi to New England.

At least 182 deaths in the nation were attributed to the cold. Some snow shovelers dropped dead of heart attacks. Some stranded motorists were killed by carbon monoxide. Some children were crushed to death on sleds. Where traffic moved around snow banks and over icy roads, accidents took their toll.

WITH TEMPERATURES near zero in snowbound Washington, federal workers have another holiday today. All schools were closed in the District Monday and thousands of workers were absent.

In Middleboro, Ky., 11,000 of the town's 15,000 residents were without heating gas. Appeals were made to state and federal governments for emergency aid.

Not everyone was unhappy. Private parking lots boosted prices. Galoshes sales boomed. So did fuel-oil sales. At Keuka Park, N. Y., 25 college boys who were weekend guests were stranded with 300 students at Keuka College for Women.

Triplet Lambs Are Born Here Monday

Despite cold weather and adverse conditions triplet lambs were born yesterday at the Harold Wolford residence, Route 4, Circleville.

Although twin lamb births are common, this three way deal is rather unusual. Mrs. Wolford said triplets have been born at her farm only once prior to yesterday's event.

of Gov. C. William O'Neill and since he is not a resident of Pickaway County it may take longer, and necessitate postponing the hearing in order to take his deposition.

Tarbuton, in a letter to the Board of Elections, said he advised Ford that the real issue to be determined before the Board of Elections will necessarily disclose the conspiracy between the Governor's Office, the State Highway Department and certain Republican politicians in Pickaway County.

Tarbuton's letter says that the conspiracy involved was the depriving of owners of lands adjoining recently constructed and proposed new highway construction in Pickaway County of a fair and adequate compensation for their farm lands taken by the Highway Department under its right of eminent domain.

Tarbuton apologized to the board for putting them to this trouble, but said that it was necessary in order to preserve the right of all the electors in Pickaway County. According to Tarbuton most of the electors are already aware of Ford's residence on a small farm, on Neiswander Road in Madison Twp.

In a statement from Ford he said he will be represented by Tarbuton and a local counsel. Ford, 43, attended Duke University and received a law degree from Franklin College, Columbus.

Ford said he conducted a law practice in Canal Winchester and stated that he bought the farm and residence in question in 1951. He said that the home in question is a cabin built by J. Calvin Reese now deceased and formerly president of the State Savings and Loan Co., Columbus, in 1941.

Ford said that after insulating and wiring the cabin he officially began residing there after a severe auto accident in 1954. He states that he has permanently lived there since. Ford said that he has dinner with his 84 year-old father, who resides at 1834 N. 4th St., Columbus.

Ford was State Senator from Pickaway and Franklin Counties in 1949-50 and has been a nominee for this post several other times. He was a nominee for the Ohio Supreme Court in 1956. Ford has been a lifelong Democrat.

Downtown Dayton Blaze Is Battled

DAYTON (AP)—About 50 firemen early today braved sub-zero weather to battle a blaze which swept the interior of the DeWitt Village Cafe in downtown Dayton. Eight persons were routed from apartments above the restaurant and were cared for at a parking garage next door. The garage was undamaged by the fire.

District Fire Chief John M. Kammer, 48, was struck by a falling ladder, but returned to duty after hospital treatment.

No estimate of damage was available from Harry Daniels, owner of the building.

House, Shed, Auto Damaged By Fire; Loss May Be $2,700

Two fires were reported in this area yesterday afternoon. Damages were estimated to be $2,700.

The first was a 1 p. m. at the John Cox residence in Tarlton. Saltcreek - Tarlton volunteer firemen said the blaze was caused by a faulty chimney.

Firemen estimated damage at $200. They said the blaze was confined to the upstairs and side of the frame house.

The other blaze was at the William Barthelmas farm on Route 104 about six miles southwest of Circleville at 4 p. m.

ACCORDING TO Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey the fire destroyed a 26 by 75 feet shed and an auto and other materials inside. Damage was estimated at $2,500.

The shed was valued at $900, lumber, $1,000, doors, frames and windows, $150, cardboard, $50, several tires, $50, wood pallets $50 and the 1948 model car, $200.

The shed was located near a dumping area. It was discovered by Gilbert Stonerock who was in charge of the dump.

Stonerock, who owned the car, said the blaze started in the east side of the building. Cause was undetermined, Barthelmas said.

Overruled FCC Examiner Insists His Report Correct

WASHINGTON (AP)—The examiner who was overruled by the Federal Communications Commission on the award of a Miami TV channel testified today he still believes he made the right recommendation.

"There was no question in my mind at all that I had arrived at the right decision in the case," Herbert Sharfman told a special House investigating committee.

Under questioning, Sharfman said he encountered no improper pressures in the case.

The investigators called Sharfman and four men from Miami in digging into accusations that money was passed to influence FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack in the case. Mack denies this and contends that $2,650 of canceled checks, introduced in the hearing, represented loans to him by a Miami lawyer.

Sharfman, after lengthy hearings, recommended in 1955 that Miami's channel 10 be given to radio station WKAT, owned by A. Frank Katzentine.

THE FCC in February 1957 granted the channel to Public Service Television Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of National Airlines. The award is now being contested in the courts.

For the time being, the committee said it was through interrogating Bernard Schwarz, the counsel he fired last week and the one who made the allegations concerning Mack.

Summoned from Florida to testify were Paul R. Scott and Robert H. Anderson, now a circuit judge, whom Schwartz identified as members of the law firm representing the successful applicant; Thurman A. Whiteside, who Schwartz said wrote at least $2,650 in checks to Mack while the case was pending; and Perrine Palmer Jr., described by Schwartz as a leading Miami political figure and a close acquaintance of Mack.

Whiteside has said he lent Mack money for many years, but both he and Mack have denied Schwartz's charges of a payment. Mack, who has called the charges "unsubstantiated" and "distortions," is to testify Thursday.

Terrified Woman Finally Soothed By Cop Dispatcher

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—The hushed tones of a terrified woman phinally greeted dispatcher Phyllis Wagner when she answered the San Mateo County sheriff's telephone Monday.

"Something terrible is going on out here," the shaky voice whispered. "There are two men talking, right outside my house, out here on Edgewood Road."

The unidentified nervous voice described the conversation: "I have a cord around his neck now; here's a rope, that would be better. I don't know how we are going to get him down to the street. We'll just have to drag him."

The dispatcher suddenly interrupted the recital.

"Oh, don't worry," she said cheerfully, explaining that Deputy Wilmar Kruger and Harold Francis had been called out there to round up a stray jack-ass.

14 Deportees Escape

CAIRO (AP)—An Egyptian court today announced the conviction of six Egyptians for Communist activities. Their sentences ranged from a $144 fine to three years imprisonment.

BERLIN (AP)—Russia is withdrawing 41,000 men from East Germany in the next month, the Soviet army commander in East Germany said today. Allied experts estimate that is about a tenth of the Soviet troops in the satellite.

Gen. Matvey W. Zakharov told the official East German news agency AN that two mechanized divisions would be pulled back as part of a general reduction of forces in satellite East Europe.

More Bulganin Notes Expected

Observers See Reds Ignoring Ike's Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomatic officials said today it is quite likely Soviet Premier Bulganin will ignore President Eisenhower's advice and keep firing public letters at the White House.

If he does, they said, Eisenhower would have no choice but to answer just as publicly. Silence, it is felt, would only allow the Soviets to win a high-level propaganda war without a contest.

These officials discussed this outlook in the wake of the strongly worded Eisenhower letter to Bulganin which the White House made public Monday.

The Eisenhower message virtually told Bulganin further letters from him on the subject would be unwelcome. Eisenhower suggested instead that the Kremlin leaders concentrate on "less formal and less publicized contacts" if they genuinely want to improve relations and arrange a summit conference.

EISENHOWER'S letter, the toughest in tone he has sent to Bulganin in the past two years, reflected his view that such communications should not be used for propaganda in the cold war.

Eisenhower compared the professed Soviet desire for peace with what he termed the "constantly mounting accusations" by Kremlin leaders.

Some authorities professed to see good prospects that the Kremlin would accept Eisenhower's challenge that they send some Soviet leaders on visits to the United States. Eisenhower invited them to learn "the real facts" about the American longing for peace.

He proposed that groups of Soviet "leaders of thought and influential citizens" be encouraged to make such trips.

2 Brothers Given Mercy After Slaying

AKRON (AP)—Two brothers have been spared from the electric chair following their conviction of first degree murder by a panel of three judges.

John Miller, 26, and his brother Richard, 29, were found guilty Monday in the slaying of grocer Russell Foutty Oct. 28. The guilty verdict, with a recommendation of mercy, was returned by Common Pleas Judges Ray B. Watters, Frank H. Harvey and Stephen C. Colopy. A death sentence would have been mandatory without the mercy recommendation.

The Millers testified that Jack Foutty, 33, a nephew of the grocer, was the trigger man in the slaying. But Foutty testified John Miller fired the fatal shot.

The grocer was killed when he pulled a gun and started firing at three men who tried to rob him of $1,600 as he stepped from his car in the driveway of his home.

The Millers were tried by the three-man tribunal after they waived a jury trial and pleaded guilty to murder, throwing themselves on the mercy of the court as to the degree of guilt.

Summit County Prosecutor John Ballard said he will try to start Foutty's trial this week. The nephew also was charged with first degree murder.

Sobles underwent a 2-hour and 20-minute operation at Bellevue Hospital Monday for removal of the hardware from his stomach.

Physicians reported him doing well following the surgery.

Texas Policeman Finally Wins In Struggle with Marijuana

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Asst. Police Chief Willie Bauer did win his struggle with marijuana after all. He revealed the facts recently after recovering from considerable stoop labor, calloused hands and a pocketbook dent.

His motives aimed at law and order, education of the young and protecting the department budget. Bauer's project: a small-scale farm operation. The crop: marijuana.

Marijuana is a plant that is dried and smoked like a cigarette. It gives smokers a real jag during which they are not responsible for their actions. Its possession is illegal.

Chief Bauer noted that rookie cops knew little about the weed. To educate these youngsters, he designed a mechanical smoker and persuaded some engineers to build one.

But he didn't like the quality of the marijuana the force picked up now and then. So he decided to grow his own supply for the mechanical smoker.

Neighbors made friendly inquiries about his beautiful plants and asked the name.

Bauer left the impression that the plants belonged to a rare tropical family.

When he harvested enough for the police school, he cut the remainder and burned them. That would destroy them.

That's what Bauer thought. Sprouts grew back almost overnight.

He pulled them up. More sprouts appeared.

In desperation, he poured oil over the garden and set it afire. But here came those plants peeping up again and shooting upward fast.

For several days Bauer spent most of his spare time trying to mow faster than the plants grew. He kept mowing until mowing in the same spot began to appear odd.

"It looked pretty silly to the neighbors," he said ruefully.

Bauer finally worked out a massive defense plan.

He telephoned a construction company, ordered a concrete slab poured on his garden and a garage built on top.

Foes of the drug traffic will be happy to learn that as of last reports no marijuana plants have penetrated the policeman's concrete.

was loaded with 200 pounds of snow. Raymond immediately built his first snowman.

And then there is the story of a little girl's faith and determination.

In South Fulton, Tenn., Deborah Lynn Beard was puzzled when she arrived at school to find the doors locked Monday.

Deborah, a 6-year-old first grader, waited.

Temperatures were below zero and her face was blue with cold. Still she waited, unaware the school had been closed due to bitter weather.

She waited an hour and a half. At 9, Herman Roach, a bus driver, stopped at a gasoline station across the street. He saw Deborah hunched on the steps, her head drooping almost to her lap.

He called to the little girl. She tried to get up and fell forward. He carried her to a nearby house. A physician was called.

Deborah is recovering from a severe case of exposure.

Stock Mart Trading Very Slow Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market drifted off slightly in very slow trading early this afternoon. The blizzard in the eastern United States and subfreezing temperatures caused continued absenteeism in financial quarters. Key stocks showed many fractional declines. There were a few gainers. Losses were kept generally within a point.

A slightly lower trend was shown by motors, rails, coppers, oils and building materials.

Steels and radio televisions were generally higher.

American Telephone reported earnings which made it the biggest corporate money earner and the stock was up a fraction. General Motors was firm as its per share earnings showed a slight drop from the year ago figure.

U. S. Steel added a point and other major steels were firm as the industry's output rate was scheduled a bit higher this week.

U. S. government bonds were steady to a shade lower.

Down Swing In Business Is Detailed

Various Barometers
Studied To Determine
Any Trend in Economy

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—A new storm of unpleasant statistics and a falling trend in many business barometers is adding today to the general February dreariness.

Businessmen take what comfort they can from the knowledge that February often is the low month—with better days usually lying ahead.

Statistics are mainly about where we've just been—how high unemployment was and how low industrial production was in January and how profits tended to shrink in the closing months of 1957 for most firms.

Barometers that businessmen watch aren't always infallible. But so far most point to a continuing down swing. Here are a few:

Machine tool orders point to what industry expects to do about expansion several months ahead. Orders have been falling for some time—and are now far below the amount of shipments of tools ordered months ago.

Output of paper and paper board are always watched because they tell how much factories are shipping and how much they expect to ship. The American Paper and Pulp Assn. reports production off from a year ago and the industry's profits averaging about 18 per cent lower than in 1956.

Its members gathered here for their annual convention say demand hasn't picked up yet. But many count on a general business improvement by fall—as expected in the White House—to get them going strong again. Meanwhile, they're facing reduced output at a time when capacity has been built sizably higher than a year ago.

New factory orders in general are on the skimpy side and purchasing agents are ordering only a short distance ahead—they haven't sighted a turn in the weather yet.

Inventories in general are always watched as a barometer of future business. Statistics—pointing backward—show that they were still high enough last month for many, if not most, business firms to live off them. When business reverses itself and starts ordering to rebuild inventories, it will be one of the best indications that better times are coming.

Latest figures on industrial output show it at the lowest point since February 1955—that month again. Cut back most were the schedules in factories making durable goods. There, too, were the greatest number of layoffs.

Metals form one of the better barometers. Some steelmen think orders should pick up in March, but whether more than just the usual gain from dreary February they don't venture to guess. The price of steel scrap often is considered a good barometer. If it should make more than just a temporary rise, economists would figure the steel mills are about to step up activity.

Consumer buying habits show up in the statistics of retail trade. But they also reveal themselves in the trend of installment buying. The latest reports show the rate of repayment of installment loans growing apace, while the rate of new installment buying has slowed almost to a walk.

This particularly disturbs the auto industry which has come to be looked upon as a prime barometer in itself. Auto making now dominates most business thinking—when Detroit has a good year everyone feels better. When car sales slump, most folk feel as dreary as the weather.

Victor Borge Due For Another Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Wednesday evening, Victor Borge will offer the third "half" of his "Comedy in Music" on CBS-TV, an annual event that is well worth a twist of any viewer's dial.

Borge prefers not to call it a mere continuation of his two previous fine TV solo performances, but "something entirely new—the sort of thing you can't do alone." He will be joined by dancers Bambi Linn and Rod Alexander, singer Doretta Morrow, 12-year-old piano prodigy Abbott Lee Ruskin, and a 46-piece orchestra.

The Art of Growing Old

Ed Wynn Shuns 'Dumps' When Nearing 70th Year

Editor's Note—If you want to stay young, actor Ed Wynn thinks, you must think and act young. Wynn has certainly done that, but he had to overcome moments of despondency when, nearing 70, he felt that life had shouldered him aside. This is the first of four articles by prominent people on the subject of old age.

By ED WYNN
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It isn't given to many people to start a whole new, exciting career after the age of 70, but I have been so blessed. For 54 years, I thought that God put me on this earth to make people laugh. I never worked at any other profession.

As I neared my 70th year, I was told I could not get work as a comedian. The men who run

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: How may a woman in middle age endeavor herself to people—to men, women and children? Perhaps even love and be loved; or at least strike a happy medium?

I attempt to be friendly, to show appreciation, to offer help where possible; in general try to do my part in human relationships. But apparently my efforts are inadequate; because few people seem to respond, or show reciprocal interest.

I don't crave intimacy, but do long for the genuine liking of others. I enjoy church activities, movies, reading, TV, travel—most any of those things that others find interesting.

I try to overcome an independent bias, but need help in considering other people's viewpoints and wishes more fully. I'm sure. Have led a secluded life mostly in the past, but now am making a sincere endeavor to find real happiness, on a give-and-take basis, with others. Thus I need to attain the personality that others may love, appreciate and enjoy.

E. D.

DEAR E.D.: The whole tenor of your letter indicates that you are already a likeable person. Open hearted, eager for friendship. Self-reliant, resourceful and diligent, in trying to make profitable use of your opportunities. (As for example, in enjoying church work, reading, movies, TV, travel, etc., to relieve your loneliness.)

Also you are helpfully disposed, humbly willing to exert yourself, to gain merit in others' estimate. And you long to give affection, as well as receive it.

So the conundrum is—why the barrier between yourself and society? Why are you overlooked, neglected, deprived of loving relationships with men, women and children?

You say that in the past you've led a mostly secluded life—as the dutiful daughter of dependent parents, maybe? Perhaps now, for the first time in your experience, you are "on your own"—free to please yourself. Except that the ending

Ohio Corn Money Said Exhausted

COLUMBUS (AP)—Corn growers who took a while to decide may not see any money from the federal government this year.

The money is payment for taking corn acreage out of production, and the deadline for signing up is Thursday. The Ohio average is $36.42 an acre.

But, says Wallace Barr, Ohio State University extension economist, 62 of the 71 corn counties in the state have already used up all the money the federal government gave them.

In the past, money left over from other states or other crops was transferred to pay corn growers who didn't plant their acres. But Barr says heavy sign-ups in other states seems to rule this out in 1958.

Railroad Fall Fatal

CLEVELAND (AP)—A fall from the top of a Nickel Plate Road oil car apparently killed Joseph F. Kosowatz, 64. His frozen body was found along the tracks.

the television shows said the trend was against comedy, that the people wanted drama for their entertainment.

This was hard for me to take. But, later, I played a serious role in the movie, "The Great Man."

The results were beyond my wildest dreams. I found myself being hailed by the critics as a dramatic find, and I was sought by many film and TV producers for serious roles.

I have been asked by several organizations and governmental groups for my ideas on such matters as growing old and retiring, and I have been happy to oblige.

Some of my ideas are strictly personal. I may be unique in that I feel I have always had a Peter Pan mind.

I believe there are great dangers in retirement. No one should retire or be forced to retire on the basis of age alone. Disability should be the basis for retirement, especially in hazardous occupations where age might impair coordination.

All Americans can be heartened by the example of President Eisenhower, despite three attacks of serious illness, he is still going strong at 67 and will not retire.

If you must retire, I feel the most important thing is to keep your mind active. Find new interests, new activities, new friends to keep your mind alive.

I believe it's a good idea for retired people to move to a new neighborhood instead of living where they have for many years.

Another danger of old age is exaggeration. If your mind isn't active, your fears can be blown beyond all proportions.

I've found a formula for avoiding these exaggerated fears of age: YOU take care of every day; let the calendar take care of the years.

My only other advice for a long life is just this:

Keep breathing.

Stuttering Comic Dies at Age 68

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Stuttering comedian Joe Frisco, 68, is dead. Death came in the Motion Picture Country House and Hospital.

Solon Warns Reds May Take Lead

CHICAGO (AP)—A warning that the Soviet Union may win a commanding military lead over the United States within 10 years opened a strategy conference Monday of top business, government and military specialists.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) urged a five-point drive, including a defense budget increase of up to $5 billion to keep the United States ahead of a Soviet military and economic upsurge. He said:

"If events proceed on their present course, we will become a second class military and political power, while the Soviets become the dominant nation of the world."

Police said the tears came from fear as the burglar tried to smash a handle from a safe. The gas was a built-in protection feature. The burglar went away empty-handed.

NEW YORK (AP)—A Bronx man plunged 15 stories from a Fifth Avenue building Monday but his fall was cushioned by a huge pile of snow.

Wilson was taken to a hospital, where his condition was described as critical.

Fellow employees said Wilson had been complaining recently about poor health.

Academy Award Nominations Have Strong British Flavor

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Academy Award nominations this year have a strong British flavor, and several Oscars may be their cup of tea.

Nominees for top awards include Alec Guinness for "The Bridge on the River Kwai"; Charles Laughton, "Witness for the Prosecution"; Deborah Kerr, "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison"; and Elizabeth Taylor, "Raintree County."

In addition, Laughton's wife Elsa Lanchester was among nominees Monday for best supporting actress for her work in "Witness." Director David Lean was tabbed for "Kwai."

"Sayonara," a movie about a U.S. major's love for a Japanese girl, won the most nominations—10—in results announced by George Seaton, president of the Motion Picture Academy.

"Peyton Place" with nine nominations and "The Bridge on the River Kwai" with eight were next. The other two pictures to place in the movies' chosen five were "12 Angry Men" and "Witness for the Prosecution."

Marlon Brando, perennial contestant and previous winner, was nominated for "Sayonara." The fact that Brando has won before gave the edge to Britain's Guinness for "Wild Is the Wind."

The other male star nominees are Anthony Franciosa for "A Hatful of Rain" and Anthony Quinn for "Wild Is the Wind."

Lana Turner, long a sex symbol in the movies, was nominated for "Peyton Place," wherein she played the mother of a teenage daughter for the first time.

The other two feminine nominees are Joanne Woodward for "The Three Faces of Eve" and Anna Magnani for "Wild Is the Wind."

The televised Oscar award ceremonies will be March 26.

Down Swing In Business Is Detailed

Various Barometers
Studied To Determine
Any Trend in Economy

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—A new storm of unpleasant statistics and a falling trend in many business barometers is adding today to the general February dreariness.

Businessmen take what comfort they can from the knowledge that February often is the low month—with better days usually lying ahead.

Statistics are mainly about where we've just been—how high unemployment was and how low industrial production was in January and how profits tended to shrink in the closing months of 1957 for most firms.

Barometers that businessmen watch aren't always infallible. But so far most point to a continuing down swing. Here are a few:

Machine tool orders point to what industry expects to do about expansion several months ahead. Orders have been falling for some time—and are now far below the amount of shipments of tools ordered months ago.

Output of paper and paper board are always watched because they tell how much factories are shipping and how much they expect to ship. The American Paper and Pulp Assn. reports production off from a year ago and the industry's profits averaging about 18 per cent lower than in 1956.

Its members gathered here for their annual convention say demand hasn't picked up yet. But many count on a general business improvement by fall—as expected in the White House—to get them going strong again. Meanwhile, they're facing reduced output at a time when capacity has been built sizably higher than a year ago.

New factory orders in general are on the skippy side and purchasing agents are ordering only a short distance ahead—they haven't sighted a turn in the weather yet.

Inventories in general are always watched as a barometer of future business. Statistics—pointing backward—show that they were still high enough last month for many, if not most, business firms to live off them. When business reverses itself and starts ordering to rebuild inventories, it will be one of the best indications that better times are coming.

Latest figures on industrial output show it at the lowest point since February 1955—that month again. Cut back most were the schedules in factories making durable goods. There, too, were the greatest number of layoffs.

Metals form one of the better barometers. Some steelmen think orders should pick up in March, but whether more than just the usual gain from dreary February they don't venture to guess.

The price of steel scrap often is considered a good barometer. If it should make more than just a temporary rise, economists would figure the steel mills are about to step up activity.

Consumer buying habits show up in the statistics of retail trade. But they also reveal themselves in the trend of instalment buying. The latest reports show the rate of repayment of instalment loans growing apace, while the rate of new instalment buying has slowed almost to a walk.

This particularly disturbs the auto industry which has come to be looked upon as a prime barometer in itself. Auto making now dominates much business thinking—when Detroit has a good year everyone feels better. When car sales slump, most folk feel as dreary as the weather.

The Art of Growing Old

Ed Wynn Shuns 'Dumps' When Nearing 70th Year

Editor's Note—If you want to stay young, actor Ed Wynn thinks, you must think and act young. Wynn has certainly done that, but he had to overcome moments of despondency when, nearing 70, he felt that life had shouldered him aside. This is the first of four articles by prominent people on the subject of old age.

By ED WYNN
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It isn't given to many people to start a whole new, exciting career after the age of 70, but I have been so blessed. For 54 years, I thought that God put me on this earth to make people laugh. I never worked at any other profession.

As I neared my 70th year, I was told I could not get work as a comedian. The men who run the television shows said the trend was against comedy, that the people wanted drama for their entertainment.

This was hard for me to take. But, later, I played a serious role in the movie, "The Great Man."

The results were beyond my wildest dreams. I found myself being hailed by the critics as a dramatic find, and I was sought by many film and TV producers for serious roles.

I have been asked by several organizations and governmental groups for my ideas on such matters as growing old and retiring, and I have been happy to oblige. Some of my ideas are strictly personal. I may be unique in that I feel I have always had a Peter Pan mind.

I believe there are great dangers in retirement. No one should retire or be forced to retire on the basis of age alone. Disability should be the basis for retirement, especially in hazardous occupations where age might impair coordination.

All Americans can be heartened by the example of President Eisenhower, despite three attacks of serious illness, he is still going strong at 67 and will not retire.

If you must retire, I feel the most important thing is to keep your mind active. Find new interests, new activities, new friends to keep your mind alive.

I believe it's a good idea for retired people to move to a new neighborhood instead of living where they have for many years.

Another danger of old age is exaggeration. If your mind isn't active, your fears can be blown beyond all proportions.

I've found a formula for avoiding these exaggerated fears of age: YOU take care of every day; let the calendar take care of the years.

My only other advice for a long life is just this: Keep breathing. (Tomorrow: Geraldine Farrar.)

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: How may a woman in middle age endeavor herself to people—to men, women and children? Perhaps even love and be loved; or at least strike a happy medium?

I attempt to be friendly, to show appreciation, to offer help where possible; in general try to do my part in human relationships. But apparently my efforts are inadequate; because few people seem to respond, or show reciprocal interest.

I don't crave intimacy, but do long for the genuine liking of others. I enjoy church activities, movies, reading, TV, travel—most any of those things that others find interesting.

I try to overcome an independent bias, but need help in considering other people's viewpoints and wishes more fully. I'm sure. Have led a secluded life mostly in the past, but now am making a sincere endeavor to find real happiness, on a give-and-take basis, with others. Thus I need to attain the personality that others may love, appreciate and enjoy.

E. D.
DEAR E.D.: The whole tenor of your letter indicates that you are already a likeable person. Open hearted, eager for friendship. Self-reliant, resourceful and diligent, in trying to make profitable use of your opportunities. (As for example, in enjoying church work, reading, movies, TV, travel, etc., to relieve your loneliness.)

Also you are helpfully disposed, humbly willing to exert yourself, to gain merit in others' estimate. And you long to give affection, as well as receive it.

So the conundrum is—why the barrier between yourself and society? Why are you overlooked, neglected, deprived of loving relationships with men, women and children?

You say that in the past you've led a mostly secluded life—as the dutiful daughter of dependent parents, maybe? Perhaps now, for the first time in your experience, you are "on your own"—free to please yourself. Except that the ending

Ohio Corn Money Said Exhausted

COLUMBUS (AP)—Corn growers who took a while to decide may not see any money from the federal government this year.

The money is payment for taking corn acreage out of production, and the deadline for signing up is Thursday. The Ohio average is $36.42 an acre.

But, says Wallace Barr, Ohio State University extension economist, 62 of the 71 corn counties in the state have already used up all the money the federal government gave them.

In the past, money left over from other states or other crops was transferred to pay corn growers who didn't plant their acres. But Barr says heavy sign-ups in other states seems to rule this out in 1958.

One Man Tops Government

An amusing story came out of Washington recently concerning the success of a one-man free enterprise venture which was in direct competition with a U. S. government project. The bureaucratic project flopped, although it had millions of the taxpayers' dollars at its disposal, and the one-man show seems to be building up steam.

It becomes all the more amusing when it is noted that the battle of free enterprise versus government took place in Moscow.

Needless to say, Washington officials are somewhat miffed as a result of the unexpected turn of events, but at this point they have all but given up hope of recovering their tramped upon pride.

Gottfried Neuberger of New York is the man who blizzed the government and he did it by becoming the first American to gain Soviet approval to hold a trade exhibit in Moscow. Under an agreement signed with the Russians, he will open an exhibit in August of this year. It took him two and a half years to gain Soviet approval and he is not likely to relinquish it now.

A specialist is staging international trade

shows for the last 28 years, Neuberger acknowledges his success over the government for the right to put on a show in Russia as a challenge to free enterprise." He is most firmly entrenched in the belief, however, "that it is very important to show in the USSR that not everything here is run by government bureaucrats, but that things like this can be done by what the President calls "people-to-people contacts."

It takes true courage to tackle single-handedly an opponent as formidable and wealthy as the U. S. government, but the satisfaction of accomplishment must be equally as great. There seems to be no way of convincing Washington that it should remove itself from the many fields of non-government operations in which it is competing with private capital and initiative. The only alternative is to adopt the first come, first served attitude of Gottfried Neuberger and force the bureaucrats to accept free enterprise whether they like it or not.

Be Something for Somebody

NEW YORK (AP)—"I don't believe in a useless life," said Lauren Bacall. "You have to do something for somebody."

After the death of her husband, Humphrey Bogart, a year and a month ago, Lauren was felt well enough off to spend the rest of her life in comfortable idleness if she chose.

"But you just can't throw in the sponge—and work helps," she said. "It disciplines you."

So she went back to the studios and starred in her 14th film, "Gift of Love," for 20th Century-Fox. Then she came on to New York to celebrate, as she and "Bogie" used to do in the old days, when either had finished a picture.

But it hasn't been quite the same fun. Lauren, one of the best-liked gals in Hollywood, still has her sudden, deep, throaty, infectious laugh—but at times it has a kind of question mark behind it.

"My goal now is to stay alive," she said cheerfully when asked about her future plans. "That's a pretty good program now—just to survive until the Sputniks and the rest of the things take over."

"But I haven't any long-range plans. I've learned not to, and I never will again. Plan your life and something steps in, and there you are . . . flat. Something always happens to louse it up."

"I suppose it's good training to learn to shift for yourself. But if you forget for a moment and try to lean on someone, you fall down because there's no one there."

"The children give you a tangible reason for continuing, but you can't lean on them. I love babies. I'd like eight more."

The phone rang in her bedroom and a maid entered and asked:

"Do you wish to speak to a Willie Sutton from Beverly Hills?"

"Ha, ha!" laughed Miss Bacall, leaping up. "I sure do!"

If "Willie Sutton" was an alias for Frankie Sinatra, she didn't say.

Lauren, who had to leave then for an appointment, glanced at herself in the mirror, and again a lonely questionmark expression came momentarily into her face.

"I've got Christmas eyes this morning—green inside, red outside," she remarked. "I'll be a stretcher case before I get home."

Byrd's Retirement a Blow

It will be a loss to the United States when Sen. Harry Byrd leaves the United States Senate, as he has now announced that he will do. He is the third member of that body, within one year, to state that he will not stand for re-election despite the assurance that he could be returned if he wished to be.

Sen. William Knowland is leaving not only the Senate but the Republican leadership of it to run for governor of California. Should Sen. Knowland be defeated in the gubernatorial campaign, he would undoubtedly retire from politics. Should he be elected governor of California, his name would undoubtedly be put before the Republican Convention in 1960 for the Presidency. Sen. Knowland is a wise legislator, evenly balanced, not as brilliant as Bob Taft but also not so stubborn. His retirement from public life would be a sad blow to those who have recognized his leadership.

Sen. William Jenner, who is also retiring, represents the hard core of Republican conservatism, the element which, under the leadership of Robert A. Taft, kept the Republican Party together as a political unit during the apparently hopeless days of Democratic presidents.

And now Sen. Harry Byrd, watchdog of the nation's Treasury, announces that he will retire from the Senate. Harry Byrd has given much of his political life to battling against those who disliked American economic and social traditions and who wanted to use taxes not to bring revenue but to change the economic and social structure of the country. He came to be regarded as the best informed senator on fiscal conditions, a successor in the Senate to Carter Glass of his own state. In this particular field, he is acknowledged to be without peer in the Senate.

Sen. Byrd has often been unpopular with members of his own party, particularly as he put the preservation of the United States above the success of any party or any person. He fought a losing battle against the spenders, but it cannot be said that the impediments he put in their way did not slow up the process of waste.

When Robert A. Taft was alive, he and Sen. Byrd joined forces to keep the United States functioning legislatively. Had it not been for the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition, several legislative sessions would have resulted in little more than the wordage of the "Congressional Record."

Some of the most constructive legislation was a product of this coalition which held strong until destroyed by the politics of Sherman Adams, the President's chief-of-staff, who seems to be devoted to reducing Congress to an arm of the President's office. It is largely because of this interference by the Executive in the affairs of Congress that the Republican Party is split into factionalism and Democrats grow stronger at each Congressional election.

While the leadership of the Democratic Party remains Southern, it is Texan leadership rather than Virginian which of itself, is a remarkable development in American history. Also, the intellectual leadership of the party has moved northward, to such men as Sen. Mike Mansfield, Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Paul Douglas, men grounded more in the universities than in the easy give-and-take of everyday politics or in active business enterprises.

By George Sokolsky

One might readily say that with the departure of Sen. Harry F. Byrd from the Senate in January, an era shall have passed, an era of fierce contention between those who would change the American way of life and those who would preserve the American form of the capitalist system. What has probably happened historically is that those major changes in American life which were ushered in by the great depression of 1929 have to a large measure jelled; that the Eisenhower Administration, far from being a revolt against the New Deal which it was presumed it would be, is a projection of New Deal economics and New Deal sociology; and that those of both parties who opposed the changes have either disappeared from politics or are retreating from the fray. The new era is no longer revolutionary and surprising.

The future seems to be with younger men, with those who came into youth and early manhood in the 1930's and who have had no experience with an earlier and more gentle America, when equality of opportunity was an ideal and security not mentioned as a goal.

New York City may try a new taxi credit plan under which the passenger would charge the fare plus tip—to be paid at the end of the month. Good on any ride—except one to the poor house?

Somewhat it's hard to visualize a Broadway rider, after a night on the town, commenting: "We're too broke to take a subway home—let's call a cab!"

With many taxi riders traveling strictly on the cuff, one wonders if the prevalent color for cabs will switch from yellow to red.

It takes anywhere from 300 to 1,000 years for an inch of top soil to accumulate, yet it can all be washed away by a single rainstorm—according to Factor's. Sounds like one of Mother's dirtiest tricks!

Cops of a Canadian report thieves broke into a burglar's office there and carried off a 500-pound safe. Sounds like a work of out-of-town burglar larceny in.

A Colorado centennarian, when asked by reporters her recipe for attaining such a great age, replied: "Don't die!" Anybody else got any more foolish questions?

A Tennessee convict, serving a 42-year term, says he'd rather be a passenger aboard a moon rocket than finish out his sentence. We can understand his urge to travel—but he sure is a poor picker of places to go.

Wyoming still has vast copper and silver deposits.

New Baby Brings Changes

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Expecting a baby? Then let me give you some practical, down-to-earth advice.

There is no greater thrill than that experienced when you become a parent. Having a son or daughter of your own is just about the best thing that can happen to you. But a new child in the home means a great change in your life, one that is generally far from the overly romantic dream you cherished during the long months of pregnancy.

The new demands will seem enormous. Both father and mother will be tied down, since a baby is helpless and needs immediate and constant care.

I suggest that all of you parents-to-be adjust yourselves now for the big change in your lives that your tot will bring.

Your baby will make demands that are greater than those found in any other human relationship. He will keep you awake, he will keep you busy.

You will have to change diapers (it may seem like a continuous procedure), you will have to make formulas, pick up toys—you will have to do everything for him.

You'll have to spend more money, too, and learn to do without some accustomed luxuries. You will feel crowded, worn out.

But you will learn to live with these changes and, even more important, you will learn to love it. As the baby responds, you will yield part of your self-centeredness and learn how to meet his needs in a manner best suited to the individual temperaments of the baby, yourself and your spouse.

The infant's complete dependency and your responsibility for meeting his needs will focus your attention on the baby rather than on yourself.

So, in the end, you will adjust. You and the baby will be able to live together and enjoy each other. In the beginning, however, it might be a little rough. Better look at things the way they really will be and prepare yourself for them. Then, relax again in the knowledge that it will be worth it. It makes life complete.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—There'll probably never be a summit conference if President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Bulganin keep on writing each other letters about it. Their letters sound increasingly bitter. They've reached a dead end.

After two months and five letters—three from Bulganin to Eisenhower, two from Eisenhower to Bulganin—the two heads of government have arrived exactly nowhere. They've agreed on nothing except that peace is better than war.

But they can't agree at all on how to sit down together to talk about peace. Bulganin made proposals. Eisenhower made proposals. Neither has budged from his own position. Neither shows any signs of doing so.

Both men have used their letters for propaganda by publicly releasing them as soon as they sent them. Thus their correspondence is neither private nor productive.

Both men are probably fed up with the long-winded exchanges. Eisenhower is. He plainly suggested it's time to cut out the letter writing and try something else.

"We must," he said, "find some ways other than mere prolongation of repetitive public debate."

But, judging from Bulganin's past performance, he'll probably write more letters and Eisenhower, out of international courtesy, will probably answer them.

There's been talk in Washington for weeks now that the Eisenhower administration—despite the barren results of the letter writing—is reconciled to the idea that a summit conference will be held this year, perhaps in the summer.

But Eisenhower's latest letter to Bulganin—sent Monday—shows no signs of it. He practically accused Bulganin of being either a windbag or a phony.

He told him: "With respect to the meeting of heads of government, the cumulative effect of your last three missives is to leave considerable puzzlement as to what you think another such meeting (like the summit meeting in 1955) could contribute to a genuine settlement of our problems."

All this doesn't necessarily mean the end to efforts toward a summit meeting. Although Eisenhower indicated he's getting bored with the letter exchanges, he held open a door.

He suggested:

1. Some arrangements for a summit meeting might be worked out through the American ambassador in Moscow and the Soviet ambassador here. Arrangements in this case mean some agreement on what should be discussed at the summit.

2. The foreign ministers might try to work out something. On this one point Eisenhower seemed to yield a point. He didn't say Secretary of State Dulles and the Soviet foreign minister would have to meet.

Bulganin, in his last letter, took a swipe at Dulles by ruling out a foreign ministers' meeting as useless.

Eisenhower didn't insist on such a meeting as necessary before a summit meeting. He talked vaguely of an "exchange of views" between the foreign ministers.

But he didn't let Bulganin push Dulles out of the picture. Eisenhower said Dulles would have to have a hand in any arrangements that were made. The next move is up to the Soviets.

So far they've taken the initiative in all this, even though their only purpose may have been propaganda. This country has not turned the tables on them by any new or bold gesture of its own.

Frightened Boy Dies in Home Fire

TWO RIVERS, Wis. (AP)—A man and his wife awakened by flames in their second floor apartment Monday rescued all three of their children, only to learn later that a frightened little boy who scrambled back into the house to look for his mother had died in the fire.

The victim was Jimmy Lodi, 8, who had been carried to safety in six below zero temperatures by his father, Louis.

The mother, Agnes, had jumped to safety in a snowbank. Meanwhile, Jimmy began looking for her and apparently went back into the two-story frame structure.

Anti-Reuther UAW Chieftain Resigns

CLEVELAND (AP)—The president of a large United Automobile Workers local union here has resigned because of his opposition to the international union's 1958 contract bargaining program.

Francis J. Smith, head of the 6,000-member Chevrolet local 1005, had criticized a profit-sharing plan supported by UAW President Walter Reuther. Under the plan employees and customers would share in the profits of major automobile manufacturers.

Smith, who proposed a larger wage increase instead of profit-sharing, received a vote of no confidence from the membership of the local two weeks ago.

One Man Tops Government

An amusing story came out of Washington recently concerning the success of a one-man free enterprise venture which was in direct competition with a U. S. government project. The bureaucratic project flopped, although it had millions of the taxpayers' dollars at its disposal, and the one-man show seems to be building up steam.

It becomes all the more amusing when it is noted that the battle of free enterprise versus government took place in Moscow.

Needless to say, Washington officials are somewhat miffed as a result of the unexpected turn of events, but at this point they have all but given up hope of recovering their tramped upon pride.

Gottfried Neuberger of New York is the man who blizzed the government and he did it by becoming the first American to gain Soviet approval to hold a trade exhibit in Moscow. Under an agreement signed with the Russians, he will open an exhibit in August of this year. It took him two and a half years to gain Soviet approval and he is not likely to relinquish it now.

A specialist is staging international trade

shows for the last 28 years. Neuberger acknowledges his success over the government for the right to put on a show in Russia as a challenge to free enterprise. He is most firmly entrenched in the belief, however, "that it is very important to show in the USSR that not everything here is run by government bureaucrats, but that things like this can be done by what the President calls 'people-to-people contacts.'"

It takes true courage to tackle single-handedly an opponent as formidable and wealthy as the U. S. government, but the satisfaction of accomplishment must be equally as great. There seems to be no way of convincing Washington that it should remove itself from the many fields of non-government operations in which it is competing with private capital and initiative. The only alternative is to adopt the first come, first served attitude of Gottfried Neuberger and force the bureaucrats to accept free enterprise whether they like it or not.

Be Something for Somebody

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"I don't believe in a useless life," said Lauren Bacall. "You have to do something for somebody."

After the death of her husband, Humphrey Bogart, a year and a month ago, Lauren was felt well enough off to spend the rest of her life in comfortable idleness if she chose.

"But you just can't throw in the sponge—and work helps," she said. "It disciplines you."

So she went back to the studios and starred in her 14th film, "Gift of Love," for 20th Century-Fox. Then she came on to New York to celebrate, as she and "Bogie" used to do in the old days, when either had finished a picture.

But it hasn't been quite the same fun. Lauren, one of the best-liked gals in Hollywood, still has her sudden, deep, throaty, infectious laugh—but at times it has a kind of question mark behind it.

"My goal now is to stay alive," she said cheerfully when asked about her future plans. "That's a pretty good program now—just to survive until the Sputniks and the rest of the things take over."

"But I haven't any long-range plans. I've learned not to, and I never will again. Plan your life and something steps in, and there you are... flat. Something always happens to louse it up."

"I suppose it's good training to learn to shift for yourself. But if you forget for a moment and try to lean on someone, you fall down because there's no one there."

"The children give you a tangible reason for continuing, but you can't lean on them. I love babies. I'd like eight more."

The phone rang in her bedroom and a maid entered and asked:

"Do you wish to speak to a Willie Sutton from Beverly Hills?"

"Ha, ha!" laughed Miss Bacall, leaping up. "I sure do!"

If "Willie Sutton" was an alias for Frankie Sinatra, she didn't say.

Lauren, who had to leave then for an appointment, glanced at herself in the mirror, and again a lonely questionmark expression came momentarily into her face.

"I've got Christmas eyes this morning—green inside, red outside," she remarked. "I'll be a stretcher case before I get home."

Byrd's Retirement a Blow

By George Sokolsky

It will be a loss to the United States when Sen. Harry Byrd leaves the United States Senate, as he has now announced that he will do. He is the third member of that body, within one year, to state that he will not stand for re-election despite the assurance that he could be returned if he wished to be.

Sen. William Knowland is leaving not only the Senate but the Republican leadership of it to run for governor of California. Should Sen. Knowland be defeated in the gubernatorial campaign, he would undoubtedly retire from politics. Should he be elected governor of California, his name would undoubtedly be put before the Republican Convention in 1960 for the Presidency. Sen. Knowland is a wise legislator, evenly balanced, not as brilliant as Bob Taft but also not so stubborn. His retirement from public life would be a sad blow to those who have recognized his leadership.

Sen. William Jenner, who is also retiring, represents the hard core of Republican conservatism, the element which, under the leadership of Robert A. Taft, kept the Republican Party together as a political unit during the apparently hopeless days of Democratic presidents.

And now Sen. Harry Byrd, watchdog of the nation's Treasury, announces that he will retire from the Senate. Harry Byrd has given much of his political life to battling against those who disliked American economic and social traditions and who wanted to use taxes not to bring revenue but to change the economic and social structure of the country. He came to be regarded as the best informed senator on fiscal conditions, a successor in the Senate to Carter Glass of his own state. In this particular field, he is acknowledged to be without peer in the Senate.

Sen. Byrd has often been unpopular with members of his own party, particularly as he put the preservation of the United States above the success of any party or any person. ## Career Girls Show Initiative In Preparing Own Meals

Lunch is served! The menu includes steaming pea soup with bits of ham, piping hot cubes of beef in sour cream, crisp celery, buttered rolls, dainty cookies and hot coffee for dessert. No, it's not lunch in an expensive restaurant, but a meal prepared at home by a secretary, packed in handsome plaid outing kits and brought to the office on the bus, to share with three friends.

These Chicago career girls were tired of standing in line at crowded sandwich bars, or paying more than their budget allowed at restaurants. So they decided to take turns preparing a hot lunch at home for the group and bringing it to the office.

Each girl prepares lunch every third day.

They pooled the price of two outing kits to transport the lunch, each kit containing a quart vacuum bottle and a plastic sandwich box, or two quart vacuum bottles.

Lunch consists of soup in a vacuum bottle, an unusual hot entrée such as beef cubes in sour cream, Swedish meat balls in gravy, pork tenderloin Provencal or veal birds in a second wide-mouth quart vacuum bottle. Coffee is in a third.

Buttered rolls, muffins or sandwiches and dessert are in the plastic box.

Lunch is attractively served on disposable paper plates and in the plastic vacuum top cups, on a cleared desk top laid with paper mats.

The girls are enjoying interesting lunches, saving money and also time from their lunch hour for a brisk walk on Michigan Avenue at noon. This is a big reward for a little extra work on the evening of every third day when it's their turn to prepare lunch.

Hoover Boys Lead Broncos In 66-54 Win

Eddie James Stars For Williamsport In Final Contest

By J. I. SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

The "Brothers Hoover" proved too much for the fighting and spirited Williamsport Deers last night in the third round of the Pickaway County tournament as the Ashville Broncos registered their 11th straight victory 66-54.

Williamsport proved a worthy opponent even though it had dropped a 77-61 verdict to the Broncos during league play. The Deers stayed with the Broncos in the fourth quarter when the Hoover brothers broke loose and tallied 19 of the 20 points scored in this period by Ashville.

Little Eddie James may never play another game of basketball, but will always be remembered by the 1,200 or so fans who witnessed the contest. James was stupendous in his final appearance in Pickaway County play as he set up the plays, dribbled through the Broncos for scores and was an inspiration to watch.

The Hoover brothers got so hot in the final quarter that Dick gave Williamsport a bucket as he accidentally tipped in a two-pointer while both teams battled under the Deercreek board. For the evening the Hoover brothers tallied 42 of Ashville's 66 points as Dick registered his high for the year with 28 and Bob scored 14.

The Williamsport twins duplicated this feat as Dave Myers and James meshed 21 points apiece for a 42-point total. Myers was given one field goal as Bob Hoover was called for goal tending when he actually reached into the bucket and knocked a Myers shot from the rim.

Williamsport's James tallied the first score of the game with a free throw and Max Reeser followed with another charity toss. Bob Hoover and Bartholomew scored for Ashville to give them an early lead before Dave Humphrey tied up the game for Williamsport. The score was tied once more late in the first period at 9-9 after Ashville had taken a five-point advantage. The Broncos led at the first quarter mark 15-11. Dick Hoover had eight points in the first period and Ronny Bartholomew meshed six of his eight-point total.

Ashville zipped to a quick 10-point lead and it looked as if Williamsport was to be crushed, but the Deers regained their stamina and began pecking away at the margin. Led by the foul shooting of James and Reeser and two almost impossible buckets by Myers, the Deers fought to within two points of Ashville near the end of the period. The Broncos scored on a jump shot by Larry Shillingburg and led at halftime, 33-29.

Myers fashioned eight points in this period on underhanded field goals under his bucket that he has become famous for. James and Myers had 10 and 11 points in the first half. The Hoover brothers had 19 of their 42 points.

Early in the second quarter the Broncos instituted a full court pressing defense that enabled them to increase their margin before Deers Coach, Glen Chester, was able to solve this maneuver. Ashville then seemed to become rattled and Williamsport, with the help of a partisan crowd, chipped away at the score until Ashville started wondering if they were playing the same team.

It was five below outside but plenty hot and heavy inside the Coliseum as Ashville again raced to a nine-point lead before hopped-up Williamsport rallied and the margin began melting away.

Led by James, who waded through the rough riding Broncos, the Deers trailed 46-41 at the three-quarter mark. Ashville lost the services of Shillingburg and later in the game, Bob Hoover fouled out. Reeser was the only Williamsport man to leave the hardwood via personals.

Deercreek fought to within two points of the Broncos before they finally tired and the "never-say-die" Hoovers crushed the Deers with a fast break and sensational rebounding. Bob Hoover tallied nine of his 14 points in the final period and Dick pumped through eight.

Ashville shot 36 per cent from the field, making 25 of 69 attempts. From the 15-foot line the Broncos registered 64 per cent, sending 16 of 25 chances through the hoops. Williamsport committed 10 turnovers.

Williamsport trailed the Broncos percentage-wise as the Deers made 17 of 53 from the field.

County's Finest In Semifinals

The Pickaway County tournament swings into semi-final action Wednesday night as Scioto (15-5) faces Darby (16-2) and in the second game New Holland (15-3) will meet Ashville (14-4).

Scioto was defeated by Darby during league play in the final season game for both teams by a score of 69-66. Many Scioto rooters believed the score would have read differently if the floor hadn't been so overcrowded and the court had been bigger. Tomorrow, the Buffalos will have the opportunity to prove their fans' prediction is right.

The Buffalos have developed a triple scoring threat in Roger Knapp with a season average of 23.6—the county's No. 1 scorer; Gary Clark, ninth in county scoring with a 14.8 average, and senior Dickie Melvin, 10th in county scoring with a 14.4 average. In Scioto's only tournament game Melvin tallied 30 points on a fast break. Knapp had 15 and Clark meshed 11 for 54 of Scioto's 75 points.

Darby will be led by Ronny

Laurelville In 62-49 Win

Wildcats Advance In Hocking Meet

The Laurelville Wildcats won their first Hocking County tournament game last night as they defeated Rockbridge, 62-49.

The Wildcats had administered two season defeats to Rockbridge 47-40 and 85-54. Last night Laurelville traded the lead with Rockbridge during the early part of the first quarter before finally taking the lead for good and increased their margin for the rest of the game.

Laurelville led 17-14 at the end of the first quarter and 34-23 at halftime. The Wildcats fashioned a stout floor game for the evening and the rebounding of Tom Evland, Mickey Young and Wendell Frazier was exceptional.

Evland had a good night with 15 points on side shots and Young had one of his better nights as he meshed 23 points on jump shots from around the center and hitting from the side.

The Wildcats led at the three quarter mark 45-33. Leading scorer, Gary Allen, was held to four points last night and this was 12 points under his 16.6 average. Allen concentrated on feeding Young and played an all-around floor game.

Rockbridge assisted the Laurelville defense with a ball freeze in the second half when they were trailing. Tucker led Rockbridge with 17 points and was followed by Flowers and Jim West with 13 and 11 points each.

Laurelville will meet nemesis South Bloomingville in the second round of tournament play Wednesday night. These two schools have traded victories as Laurelville blasted them 65-42 in their first meeting. South Bloomingville came back several weeks later and knocked the Wildcats from first place in league play with a 76-65 win.

The Wildcats have a 14-5 record going into tomorrow's foray.

for 32 per cent. They shot 54 per cent from the charity line zipping 20 of 37 opportunities. The Deers had nine turnovers.

Williamsport finished a .500 season in fine style as their play last night was nothing to be ashamed of, for the Broncos of Teays Valley are a rough and rugged crew of excellent police and are the "Yankees" of Pickaway County. The Deers ended up with a 10-10 season.

Ashville now stands 14-4 on the year and will meet first game winner New Holland in the semi-finals Wednesday night. Ashville will be seeking its 12th consecutive win and New Holland will go after its fifth straight win. The Bulldogs had a nine-game winning streak going when they dropped two straight to Darby and Ashville during the season.

Guthell and Ned Musselman, the jumping jacks whom no team has held down. Guthell displayed tremendous defensive ability in his second tournament game against Pickaway and registered 21 points for the evening.

The Trojans have also been aided by the rebounding and scoring of 6-4 John Drummond who has 23 points in two games. Tommy Walters has ably contributed his share for the Trojans as he has all season. Musselman has had some trouble getting started in the tournament and has tallied 13 points in two games.

THE SECOND GAME of the evening will be a rematch of two rebounding ball clubs. Ashville won by two points over New Holland in regular season play. The Broncos had built up a fairly decent lead until the final minutes of the game when several players fouled out and New Holland almost capitalized for a victory.

The Bulldogs will be led by the great play of John Lininger, the New Holland center, Lininger averaged 21.7 points per game during the season and has tallied 20 points thus far in tournament play. The big center has played relaxed ball in his two tournament games but will certainly have to pour it out tomorrow night for a New Holland victory.

The Broncos have hit their stride in the last few ball games as Ashville has won 11 consecutive contests. Ashville never seems to tire and will wear an opponent down in the final period in which the Broncos really romp.

The Bronco front line is one of the toughest in the county as the Hoover brothers and Don Rathburn compile three adept shots and rebounders under the buckets. The backcourt is ably commanded by Ron Bartholomew and Larry Shillingburg.

The winners of the semifinals will meet Friday night for the title and the two losers will tangle in the consolation contest which will start at 7:30 p. m.

Bulldogs Get 57-29 Triumph Over Atlanta

Lininger Leads Quintet with 16; Ater Top Raider

By PAUL SMALLWOOD
Herald Staff Writer

New Holland gained a berth in the Pickaway County cage tournament semifinals by virtue of a 57-29 win over Atlanta last night at the Coliseum.

The Bulldogs' opponent will be the mighty Broncos of Ashville who also advanced to the semifinals with a hard-fought 66-54 victory over the fighting Deers of Williamsport.

Coach Fob Melick's Bulldogs had their hands full the first quarter and most of the second before edging into a commanding lead. However, the Bulldogs' strength started to show late in the second frame as they pulled away to a 27-16 halftime margin.

The New Holland quintet suddenly found the range in the third period on a surge which netted 17 points. The Red Raiders, meanwhile, were held to four.

IT WAS the same story in the fourth quarter as the Bulldogs dropped in 13 tallies while Atlanta could manage only nine.

John Lininger, the Bulldogs' ace scorer and all-around performer, took only eight shots at the hoop but ended up with 16 points on five buckets and six free throws.

Teammate Roger Yeoman added 10 markers on four baskets and two charity tosses and Bill Garrison fired for nine on three goals and three foul throws.

Ronnie Ater paced the attack for Jim Shaw's Raiders with eight points on four buckets. Larry Martin assisted with five.

New Holland's drive to the semifinals was behind a 37.2 per cent shooting average. The Bulldogs shot only 51 times but made good on 19 attempts.

Atlanta suffered another cold night from the field, hitting 12 times in 52 chances for a 23 per cent average.

BOTH teams missed 12 foul shots but New Holland made 19 while Atlanta dropped in only five.

New Holland struck first in the opening quarter when Garrison netted a foul shot but Martin countered with a bunny.

With Lininger at the helm New Holland went out front, 10-6, before Jerry Newton popped a one hander to make it 10-8.

Nelson Bochart of the Bulldogs then swished a hook and Kenny Speakman added a foul shot as did Martin for Atlanta to make the first quarter score read, 13-9, New Holland.

New Holland fired sparingly in the final half but made most of their shots count. Atlanta, on the other hand, got enough tries at the hoop but couldn't seem to zero in.

The victory gives New Holland 15 wins and three losses for the season. All three of the Bulldog defeats were in the county league.

Atlanta ended its season with two wins and 15 losses. Both victories were non-league affairs.

Hoover Boys Lead Broncos In 66-54 Win

Eddie James Stars For Williamsport In Final Contest

By J. L. SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

The "Brothers Hoover" proved too much for the fighting and spirited Williamsport Deers last night in the third round of the Pickaway County tournament as the Ashville Broncos registered their 11th straight victory 66-54.

Williamsport proved a worthy opponent even though it had dropped a 77-61 verdict to the Broncos during league play. The Deers stayed with it in winning distance until early in the fourth quarter when the Hoover brothers broke loose and tallied 19 of the 20 points scored in this period by Bob Hoover.

BOB HOOVER

Little Eddie James may never play another game of basketball, but will always be remembered by the 1,200 or so fans who witnessed the contest. James was stupendous in his final appearance in Pickaway County play as he set up the plays, dribbled through the Broncos for scores and was an inspiration to watch.

The Hoover brothers got so hot in the final quarter that Dick gave Williamsport a bucket as he accidentally tipped in a two-pointer while both teams battled under the Deercreek board. For the evening the Hoover brothers tallied 42 of Ashville's 66 points as Dick registered his high for the year with 28 and Bob scored 14.

The Williamsport twins duplicated this feat as Dave Myers and James meshed 21 points apiece for a 42-point total. Myers was given one field goal as Bob Hoover was called for goal tending when he actually reached into the bucket and knocked a Myers shot from the rim.

Williamsport's James tallied the first score of the game with a free throw and Max Reiser followed with another charity toss. Bob Hoover and Bartholomew scored for Ashville to give them an early lead before Dave Humphrey tied up the game for Williamsport. The score was tied once more late in the first period at 9-9 after Ashville had taken a five-point advantage. The Broncos led at the first quarter mark 15-11. Dick Hoover had eight points in the first period and Ronny Bartholomew meshed six of his eight-point total.

Ashville zipped to a quick 10-point lead and it looked as if Williamsport was to be crushed, but the Deers regained their stamina and began pecking away at the margin. Led by the foul shooting of James and Reiser and two almost impossible buckets by Myers, the Deers fought to within two points of Ashville near the end of the period. The Broncos scored on a jump shot by Larry Shillingsburg and led at halftime, 33-29.

Myers fashioned eight points in this period on underhanded field goals under his bucket that he has become famous for. James and Myers had 10 and 11 points in the first half. The Hoover brothers had 19 of their 42 points.

Early in the second quarter the Broncos instituted a full court pressing defense that enable them to increase their margin before Deers Coach, Glen Chester was able to solve this maneuver. Ashville then seemed to become rattled and Williamsport, with the help of a partisan crowd, chipped away at the score until Ashville started wondering if they were playing the same team.

It was five below outside but plenty hot and heavy inside the Coliseum as Ashville again raced to a nine-point lead before hopped up Williamsport rallied and the margin began melting away.

Led by James, who waded through the rough riding Broncos, the Deers trailed 46-41 at the three-quarter mark. Ashville lost the services of Shillingsburg and later in the game, Bob Hoover fouled out. Reiser was the only Williamsport man to leave the hardwood via personals.

Deercreek fought to within two points of the Broncos before they finally tired and the "never-say-die" Hoovers crushed the Deers with a fast break and sensational rebounding. Bob Hoover tallied nine of his 14 points in the final period and Dick pumped through eight.

Ashville shot 36 per cent from the field, making 25 of 69 attempts. From the 15-foot line the Broncos registered 64 per cent, sending 16 of 25 chances through the hoops. Ashville committed 10 turnovers.

Williamsport trailed the Broncos percentage-wise as the Deers made 17 of 53 from the field.

County's Finest In Semifinals

The Pickaway County tournament swings into semi-final action Wednesday night as Scioto (15-3) faces Darby (16-2) and in the second game New Holland (15-3) will meet Ashville (14-4).

Scioto was defeated by Darby during league play in the final season game for both teams by a score of 69-66. Many Scioto rosters believed the score would have read differently if the floor hadn't been so overcrowded and the court had been bigger. Tomorrow, the Buffalos will have the opportunity to prove their fans' prediction is right.

The Buffalos have developed a triple scoring threat in Roger Knapp with a season average of 23.6—the county's No. 1 scorer; Gary Clark, ninth in county scoring with a 14.8 average, and senior Dickie Melvin, 10th in county scoring with a 14.4 average. In Scioto's only tournament game Melvin tallied 30 points on a fast break. Knapp had 15 and Clark meshed 11 for 54 of Scioto's 75 points.

Darby will be led by Ronny

Guthell and Ned Musselman, the jumping jacks whom no team has held down. Guthell displayed tremendous defensive ability in his second tournament game against Pickaway and registered 21 points for the evening.

The Trojans have also been aided by the rebounding and scoring of 6-4 John Drummond who has 23 points in two games. Tommy Walters has ably contributed his share for the Trojans as he has all season. Musselman has had some trouble getting started in the tournament and has tallied 13 points in two games.

THE SECOND GAME of the evening will be a rematch of two rebounding ball clubs. Ashville won by two points over New Holland in regular season play. The Broncos had built up a fairly decent lead until the final minutes of the game when several players fouled out and New Holland almost capitalized for a victory.

The Bulldogs will be led by the great play of John Lininger, the New Holland center. Lininger averaged 21.7 points per game during the season and has tallied 29 points thus far in tournament play. The big center has played relaxed ball in his two tournament games but will certainly have to pour it on tomorrow night for a New Holland victory.

The Broncos have hit their stride in the last few ball games as Ashville has won 11 consecutive contests. Ashville never seems to tire and will wear an opponent down in the final period in which the Broncos really romp.

The Bronco front line is one of the toughest in the county as the Hoover brothers and Don Rathburn compile three adept shots and rebounders under the buckets. The backcourt is ably commanded by Ron Bartholomew and Larry Shillingsburg.

The winners of the semifinals will meet Friday night for the title and the two losers will tangle in the consolation contest which will start at 7:30 p. m.

Laurelville In 62-49 Win

Wildcats Advance In Hocking Meet

The Laurelville Wildcats won their first Hocking County tournament last night as they defeated Rockbridge, 62-49.

The Wildcats had administered two season defeats to Rockbridge 47-40 and 85-54. Last night Laurelville traded the lead with Rockbridge during the early part of the first quarter before finally taking the lead for good and increased their margin for the rest of the game.

Laurelville led 17-14 at the end of the first quarter and 34-23 at halftime. The Wildcats fashioned a stout floor game for the evening and the rebounding of Tom Eveland, Mickey Young and Wendell Frazier was exceptional.

Eveland had a good night with 15 points on side shots and Young had one of his better nights as he meshed 23 points on jump shots from around the center and hitting from the side.

The Wildcats led at the three quarter mark 45-33. Leading scorer, Gary Allen, was held to four points last night and this was 12 points under his 16.6 average. Allen concentrated on feeding Young and played an all-around floor game.

ROCKBRIDGE assisted the Laurelville defense with a ball free in the second half when they were trailing. Tucker led Rockbridge with 17 points and was followed by Flowers and Jim West with 13 and 11 points each.

Laurelville will meet nemesis South Bloomingville in the second round of tournament play Wednesday night. These two schools have traded victories as Laurelville blasted them 65-42 in their first meeting. South Bloomingville came back several weeks later and knocked the Wildcats from first place in league play with a 76-65 win.

The Wildcats have a 14-5 record going into tomorrow's foray.

for 32 per cent. They shot 54 per cent from the charity line zipping 20 of 37 opportunities. The Deers had nine turnovers.

Williamsport finished a .500 season in fine style as their play last night was nothing to be ashamed of, for the Broncos of Teays Valley are a rough and rugged crew of excellent poise and are the "Yankees" of Pickaway County.

The Deers ended up with a 10-10 season.

Ashville now stands 14-4 on the year and will meet first game winner New Holland in the semi-finals Wednesday night. Ashville will be seeking its 12th consecutive win and New Holland will go after its fifth straight win. The Bulldogs had a nine-game winning streak going when they dropped two straight to Darby and Ashville during the season.

Bulldogs Get 57-29 Triumph Over Atlanta

Lininger Leads Quintet with 16; Ater Top Raider

By PAUL SMALLWOOD
Herald Staff Writer

New Holland gained a berth in the Pickaway County cage tournament semifinals by virtue of a 57-29 win over Atlanta last night at the Coliseum.

The Bulldogs' opponent will be the mighty Broncos of Ashville who also advanced to the semifinals with a hard-fought 66-54 victory over the fighting Deers of Williamsport.

Coach Bob Melick's Bulldogs had their hands full the first quarter and most of the second before edging into a commanding lead. However, the Bulldogs' strength started to show late in the second frame as they pulled away to a 27-16 halftime margin.

The New Holland quintet suddenly found the range in the third period on a surge which netted 17 points. The Red Raiders, meanwhile, were held to four.

IT WAS the same story in the fourth quarter as the Bulldogs dropped in 13 tallies while Atlanta could manage only nine.

John Lininger, the Bulldogs' ace scorer and all-around performer, took only eight shots at the hoop but ended up with 16 points on five buckets and six free throws.

Teammate Roger Yeoman added 10 markers on four baskets and two charity tosses and Bill Garrison fired for nine on three goals and three foul throws.

Ronnie Ater paced the attack for Jim Shaw's Raiders with eight points on four buckets. Larry Martin assisted with five.

New Holland's drive to the semifinals was behind a 37.2 per cent shooting average. The Bulldogs shot only 51 times but made good on 19 attempts.

Atlanta suffered another cold night from the field, hitting 12 times in 52 chances for a 23 per cent average.

BOTH teams missed 12 foul shots but New Holland made 19 while Atlanta dropped in only five.

New Holland struck first in the opening quarter when Garrison netted a foul shot but Martin countered with a bunny.

With Lininger at the helm New Holland went out front, 10-6, before Jerry Newton popped a one hander to make it 10-8.

Nelson Bochar of the Bulldogs then swished a hook and Kenny Speakman added a foul shot as did Martin for Atlanta to make the first quarter score read, 13-9, New Holland.

New Holland fired sparingly in the final half but made most of their shots count. Atlanta, on the other hand, got enough tries at the hoop but couldn't seem to zero in.

The victory gives New Holland 15 wins and three losses for the season. All three of the Bulldog defeats were in the county league.

Atlanta ended its season with two wins and 15 losses. Both victories were non-league affairs.

Ohio Class AA Teams Poised For Tourneys

Glenford Voted King Of Class A Teams; Middies Tops in AA

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's

387 Class AA high school teams drop the curtain on the regular campaign this week, then head down the tournament trail to the state title which only one can win.

The 646 Class A quintets, in their second week of county eliminations, will slash their field to 224 by Saturday, setting the stage for next week's sectional-district play.

Gratis, runner-up to Ayersville for last year's Class A crown, was sidelined early this time. The 1957 finalists bowed out just as they did a year ago, in an overtime tilt. Jackson needed two extra periods to usher Gratis from the running by 51-49.

Ayersville's defending champs also were knocked out of the running with a 59-27 defeat Monday night by Ney in the Defiance County tournament.

Bethel, the little 16-boy school from Monroe County, and Midvale of Tuscarawas County, last year's semi-finalists, are still in the running.

Middletown, as usual, is tops in Class AA. The Middies, winners of the state Class AA laurels the last two years, and riding a 69-game winning streak, were tagged as No. 1 by 28 of 39 sports editors in the weekly A. P. poll. Middletown also won the state title in 1944, 1946, 1947, 1952 and 1953, for a total of seven in the last 14 years.

Jerry Lucas, Middletown's 6-10 senior, scored 63 points against Lima Friday in a 105-48 rout for his No. 1 high school effort. Lima held him to 16 the first time around.

The 63 boosted his 17-game total to 559 and his 69-game career mark to 2,219. That leaves him 33 points back of the national scholastic record made by Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain of Kansas. He could pass The Stilt this week as he winds up his regular campaign against Portsmouth.

Another point-producing artist didn't fare so well. He's Ohio City's Marvin Walls, who scored 33 points in an 86-63 loss to Van Del which ousted his team from further play. Walls wound up with 713 points for 21 games, a single free throw short of a 34 average.

Miller City, in the Putnam County tourney, defeated Pandora-Gilboa by a football score—19 to 3. The losers, playing a "freeze," didn't get a point until all but three seconds had lapsed in the third period. They took but eight shots all night.

Cubs Expecting Big Improvement

By BOB SCHEFFING
Chicago Cubs Manager

SCOTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—I think the Chicago Cubs will win more ball games in 1958 than we did in '57.

That's another way of saying that I not only expect our club to be improved but that our position in the National League race will be higher than it was last year.

The Cubs, as a matter of fact, were a vastly improved club in the second half of the 1957 season. I doubt whether many people realize that we played better than .500 ball for the last two months of the season. We won 29 and lost 27 in that period.

If we can start out in April where we left off last September—and I believe we can—we'll do all right. After all, the Phillies finished fifth last year with an on-the-nose .500 season.

Our biggest weakness last year was at third base and in center field. We also lacked a lefthanded starting pitcher and a second catcher.

We drafted Antonio Taylor, a third baseman, and secured Taylor Phillips, a lefthanded pitcher and Sam Taylor, a lefthanded hitting catcher from Milwaukee in a deal. We are still looking for a center fielder but so far have been unable to get one.

One of the reasons why we expect to be improved is that our young pitchers have gained an extra year of experience. Moe Drabowsky, Dick Drott, Jim Brosnan and Don Elston did well last year particularly over the final two months and should do even better this year.

Of course, we could still use more pitching but I believe we'll be all right with the pitchers we have. In fact, pitching figures to be our strong point. In addition to the five mentioned, we have youngsters like Dave Hillman, Ed Mayer, Glen Hobbie, Briggs, Anderson and Rodriguez. Add veteran Dick Littlefield and Elmer Singleton and a proven reliever in Turk Lown and it all adds up to a better staff than what we started with in '57.

Out catching should be better and it is deeper. Neuman did a fine job for us last season in his freshman year, catching 131 games and hitting .257. He caught more games than any receiver in the league. With a full year in the majors under his belt, he figures to improve behind the plate and with the bat, too.

Then we have Jim Fanning, Taylor and a young fellow named Gordon Massa.

Our power, headed by a great player in Ernie Banks, is pretty good. Banks, 43 home runs; Walt Moryn, 20; and Dale Long, 20, give us a substantial middle three in the batting order.

Second base is uncertain. Jerry Kindall, our young bonus player, might be the answer but if he can't make it there we'll have dependable Bobby Morgan who, I'm sure, is a better hitter than he showed last season. At third, Taylor will be battling against holdover Bobby Adams and rookie John Goryl. The latter came up late last year, and did a pretty good job.

Moryn, of course, will be in right field. He now is an established major leaguer. Walls, Tanner, Bolger, Speake, Will and Frank Ernaga, a rookie, will battle it out for the other outfield positions.

We've done some building, some trading and we'll continue to try to do some more of each. I think we've made progress toward getting a solid club.

George Kline of Minnesota grabbed third place with 358 points in 18 games and a 19.8 average. Frank Howard of Ohio State dropped into fourth with 356 points in 20 games and a 17.8 average.

Spartans Tumble Michigan Into Big Ten Also-Ran Level

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan State, making the most of a "key weekend," opened up the Big Ten basketball race and sent Michigan reeling into the second division Monday night with a 79-69 victory at Ann Arbor.

While the Spartans were taking care of the Wolverines, Ohio State dealt Indiana a 93-83 defeat at Bloomington. Iowa kept its hopes alive with a 74-61 triumph over Wisconsin at Iowa City and Illinois moved out of the cellar with a 94-87 home floor victory over Minnesota.

Only nine days ago, Michigan (4-5) was leading the league and going into last Saturday's games, Michigan State (7-3) was tied for first place with Indiana (5-4).

However, with only four games remaining, Michigan State finds Purdue (6-4) its nearest threat. Purdue and Northwestern (5-5) were idle Monday night. Iowa (5-4) is tied with Indiana, and Illinois moved into eighth place with a 4-6 record followed by Minnesota (4-7) and Wisconsin (3-7).

Michigan State, using a zone defense, trailed by as much as six points twice in the early minutes of play but went ahead 31-25 at halftime and staged.

Bob Anderson scored 21 of his 25 points in the second half to back three second half Michigan threats. Pete Tillotson, Michigan's leading scorer, was blanked in the first half and he finished with 15 points. George Lee was high for the Wolverines with 22 points.

Ford Anderson, Michigan State coach, said after the game: "It was a key weekend for us, beating Illinois and then a traditional rival on the road. We wanted to keep the pressure on them all the way by getting down fast and getting off that quick shot. "It was a planned defense and it was the first time we used the zone this season," Anderson added. "I thought Michigan would try to pick up the flaws in it at halftime so we went into a semi-press for five minutes and then went into a zone."

Michigan Coach Bill Perigo said "I wasn't surprised by the zone. I'm not surprised by anything anymore. We kept getting a lot of fouls and they hurt us."

The big surprise was Ohio State's triumph over Indiana. It was the first time the Hoosiers have lost a conference game at home this season and it was Ohio State's first win away from home.

Ohio State held a 47-37 halftime lead and when the Hoosiers threatened late in the game, Jim Laughlin hit for six quick points to trample Indiana's hopes. Laughlin topped all scorers with 26 points. Pete Obrensky had 24 for Indiana and Archie Dees finished with 19.

Illinois overcame an early Minnesota lead and shot into a 40-37 halftime lead. The Gophers rallied for a 44-41 tie but a basket by Don Ohl put the Illini ahead to stay.

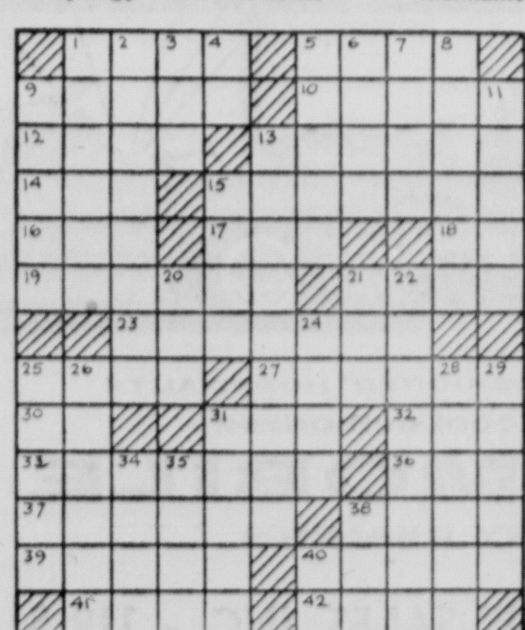

John Paul scored 25 points for Illinois and Ohl added 23, but both were outscored by Minnesota's George Kline and Ron Johnson who finished with 27 and 26 points, respectively.

Clarence Wordlaw's 26 points helped Iowa defeat Wisconsin. The Hawkeyes moved into a 39-30 halftime lead and were never seriously threatened thereafter. Bryan Kulas led Wisconsin with 21 points, and Bob Litwiz chipped in with 20.

While the Spartans were taking care of the Wolverines, Ohio State dealt Indiana a 93-83 defeat at Bloomington. Iowa kept its hopes alive with a 74-61 triumph over Wisconsin at Iowa City and Illinois moved out of the cellar with a 94-87 home floor victory over Minnesota.

Only nine days ago, Michigan (4-5) was leading the league and going into last Saturday's games, Michigan State (7-3) was tied for first place with Indiana (5-4).

However, with only four games remaining, Michigan State finds Purdue (6-4) its nearest threat. Purdue and Northwestern (5-5) were idle Monday night. Iowa (5-4) is tied with Indiana, and Illinois moved into eighth place with a 4-6 record followed by Minnesota (4-7) and Wisconsin (3-7).

Michigan State, using a zone defense, trailed by as much as six points twice in the early minutes of play but went ahead 31-25 at halftime and stayed.

Bob Andereg scored 21 of his 25 points in the second half to back three second half Michigan threats. Pete Tillotson, Michigan's leading scorer, was blanked in the first half and he finished with 15 points. George Lee was high for the Wolverines with 22 points.

Fordy Anderson, Michigan State coach, said after the game: "It was a key weekend for us, beating Illinois and then a traditional rival on the road. We wanted to keep the pressure on them all the way by getting down fast and getting off that quick shot. "It was a planned defense and it was the first time we used the zone this season," Anderson added. "I thought Michigan would try to pick up the flaws in it at halftime so we went into a semi-press for five minutes and then went into a zone."

Michigan Coach Bill Perigo said "I wasn't surprised by the zone. I'm not surprised by anything anymore. We kept getting a lot of fouls and they hurt us."

The big surprise was Ohio State's triumph over Indiana. It was the first time the Hoosiers have lost a conference game at home this season and it was Ohio State's first win away from home.

Ohio State held a 47-37 halftime lead and when the Hoosiers threatened late in the game, Jim Laughlin hit for six quick points to trample Indiana's hopes. Laughlin topped all scorers with 26 points. Pete Obrensky had 24 for Indiana and Archie Dees finished with 19.

Illinois overcame an early Minnesota lead and shot into a 40-37 halftime lead. The Gophers rallied for a 44-44 tie but a basket by Don Ohl put the Illini ahead to stay.

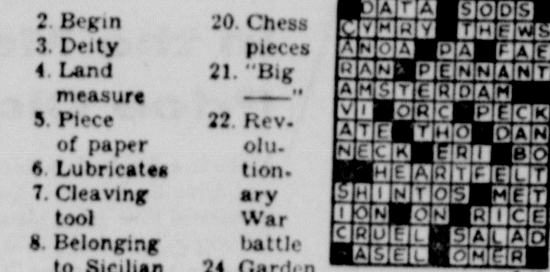

John Paul scored 25 points for Illinois and Ohl added 23, but both were outscored by Minnesota's George Kline and Ron Johnson who finished with 27 and 26 points, respectively.

Clarence Wordlaw's 26 points helped Iowa defeat Wisconsin. The Hawkeyes moved into a 39-30 halftime lead and were never seriously threatened thereafter. Bryan Kulas led Wisconsin with 21 points, and Bob Litzow chipped in with 20.

'Disaster Relief' Too Often Turned Into a Boondoggie

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of articles in which a member of the Senate Finance Committee, Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, tells why Uncle Sam is always behind the financial eight-ball.

By DEANE and DAVID HELLER
Central Press Correspondents

WASHINGTON — "Most American taxpayers would doubtless be amazed to learn," wryly smiled United States Senator John J. Williams, a leading member of the Senate finance committee, "that under the name of disaster relief they have contributed $500 to the upkeep of a polo pony and a bird dog."

"They'll further be interested to know that the fabulous King ranch in Texas, bigger than the entire state of Delaware, and enormously wealthy, received a subsidy of $32,585 from the federal government."

"This," continued the senator, "was one day after a King ranch horse won the Belmont Sweepstakes. Probably the first time such a prominent race horse has been on relief!"

"Disaster relief," under its present mode of administration, is often disastrous to the U. S. treasury, Senator Williams says. Reapportionment of such relief, in theory, are supposed to be hard-pressed farmers, who need a helping hand to keep from losing their land after the misfortunes of nature.

However, the way things are now, with Uncle Sam footing the entire bill and local officials doing all the passing out of the relief, it's an open invitation to waste, the senator says. Local politicians have no financial stake in the money being passed out, so they distribute it lavishly to one and all.

Take the case of Fred Kessler, of Barnhart, Tex., his polo pony and his bird dog. Seems that with some 500 grain certificates, worth $1 each, which the local feed store obligingly accepted as cash, Kessler made the following purchases: a polo mallet, a polo mallet head, horse liniment and saddle soap, food for his polo pony, a fancy saddle (cost $127.50), dog food, Navajo blankets, horse goggles and stirrup buckles!

"It seems that Kessler turned the grain checks, that were supposed to enable farmers to keep going, to the support of his polo pony and bird dog," Senator Williams says.

"Though this case, which was tracked down and documented, is admittedly extreme, the attitude it represents—'Let's get all the gravy we can while the getting is good'—is all too common."

"Nobody, certainly not me, begrudges a real disaster victim a helping hand for the bona fide purpose of helping him keep afloat," says Senator Williams. "However, under present laws, local officials have every incentive to extravagance and none to giving a thought to the long-suffering American taxpayer."

Senator Williams introduced a bill, S. 304, passed by the Senate, and now pending before the House of Representatives, which he believes would make a great change for the better. It requires the various states to put up 25 per cent of the money which their citizens receive for disaster relief.

"If the states had some stake, even a small one, in the funds being passed out, we'd find such programs much more wisely handled, real victims better helped, and the total cost far less."

"We hear a lot of talk about state's rights, but not much about state's responsibilities," the Delaware senator continues. "It's enlightening to see some officials who scream loudly about state's rights come charging into Washington with the speed of the wind at every opportunity to get Uncle Sam to pick up the tab for them."

Senator Williams' bill, S. 304, is awaiting action by the House. Taxpayers interested in saving money might do well to urge their congressmen to pass it.

Here's How To Create New Star for Western Movie

Editor's Note: Following is the second in a series of articles tracing the history of the ever-popular western movie.

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — How to create a Western star:

Find a big fellow—6 feet 2 and a well-built 190 pounds, 33 years old with some stage training and a little movie experience, born in the western United States, though not on a ranch. Teach him how to draw a gun fast and how to sit on a horse. Have him move slowly—unless provoked—and say his lines without much expression.

That's all there is to it! Of course, it's not that easy. Those are merely some conclusions I have reached after studying all the adult Westerns on TV and averaging the specifications of 15 top gunslingers on the home screens.

There is no such thing as an average Western star, of course. They range from sardonic veteran Ward Bond, 52, (Wagon Train) to 24-year-old Pat Conway of Tombstone Territory.

Four of the Western stars were born in Los Angeles, of all places. Only Dale Robertson, the Oklahoma Kid, appears to have an authentic Western background. He stars in Tales of Wells Fargo.

One thing is certain: you gotta be tall. Maybe not as tall as Jim Arness (Gunsmoke) and Clint Walker (Cheyenne), who scrape the barroom ceilings at 6 feet 6. But you can't be less than six feet and expect to cut the mustard.

These Western heroes have shot down their opposition with deadly accuracy this season.

What makes them so convincing? A man like Arvo Ojala helps.

Ojala is a ruddy-faced young man from the Yakima Valley of Washington who is deadly with a gun. Not that he ever shoots anyone. But he helps the TV gunslingers look as rapid on the draw as Billy the Kid.

As an actor in Westerns, he recognized that a good many Western heroes were clumsy on the draw. He designed a new kind of holster, metal-lined for quick withdrawal of the gun.

"The barrel and the chamber don't touch the sides of the holster," he explained.

Ojala (the name is Finnish) has supplied holsters and coaching to James Garner, Hugh O'Brian, Wayne Preston, Clint Walker and dozens more.

"First I teach them gun safety," he said. "You can hurt yourself badly, even with blanks. The important thing is to start the draw from a relaxed position with the thumb out to pull back the hammer as the gun is drawn up. I favor the single-action Colt .45."

City Parking Lots Not Tax Exempt

COLUMBUS — The State Board of Tax Appeals has ruled two off-street parking lots operated by the city of Delaware are subject to real estate taxes.

The board cited a Jan. 2 Ohio Supreme Court decision that the Long Street parking garage in Columbus, which charges parking fees, is subject to real estate taxes.

Bay Village Asks For Sheppard Fund

CLEVELAND — Officials of Bay Village claim that since the suburb hired Cleveland police to investigate the Sheppard murder case, Bay Village is entitled to the $10,000 reward posted by the family of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

So Village Council decided Monday night to put in a claim. The money already has been claimed by the Cleveland Police Pension Fund, but the county commission, which will administer the reward fund, has turned a deaf ear to pension fund claims.

Bay Village officials did not comment on whether the reward money, if they get it, would be used to help pay the $14,333 the city of Cleveland is demanding for conducting the investigation.

Rich, Varied Opportunities Offered Washingtonians

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Except for not having the vote, residents of Washington have rich and varied opportunities not afforded citizens anywhere else in the nation, or the world for that matter.

They are privileged to sit in on the sessions of Congress and most of the important committee hearings, witnessing formulation of the laws of the land. They can visit the White House, the government agencies, our museums and shrines almost any time without cost, or special dispensation.

These advantages are, of course, available to visitors, but for Washingtonians they are a part of every day living. The people who are mere headlines to most Americans are our next-door neighbors, fellow market shoppers, bus-travelers and waiters-in-line at the movies.

Probably the most interesting and challenging experience is getting to know the representatives of the rest of the world's peoples. In no other city is there such an aggregation of foreigners, nor such a unique chance to meet them on an equal social basis but the desire of diplomats from nations all over the basis. Here it is not only the world to entertain and be entertained by the representatives of all the American people.

With the ambassadors of some 87 countries living and doing business here, one can practically "tour" the world without even setting foot outside the boundaries of the District of Columbia.

Those on Embassy Row guest lists, and on many occasions those who are not, are privileged to inspect at first hand the furnishings and objects d'art that distinguish their native homes, to savor their exotic national dishes and attend their many cultural programs.

One comes to learn through these varied and seemingly incredible contacts that the similarities are more outstanding and numerous than the differences among the peoples of the world.

Public School Chiefs
Given Applause

WASHINGTON — School administrators in Ohio, California, Massachusetts, Maryland, Minnesota and Texas were commended Monday for having produced 15 of the 16 key scientists who developed America's first satellite at the California Institute of Technology.

William G. Carr, executive secretary of the National Education Assn., wrote them that the fact public school graduates figured prominently in the satellite race "dramatically underscored the relationship of America's public schools to America's scientific achievements."

Included in the 15 scientists is Albert R. Hibbs, born in Akron, Ohio, and educated at Chillicothe, Ohio, and Cal Tech.

WASHINGTON — Except for not having the vote, residents of Washington have rich and varied opportunities not afforded citizens anywhere else in the nation, or the world for that matter.

They are privileged to sit in on the sessions of Congress and most of the important committee hearings, witnessing formulation of the laws of the land. They can visit the White House, the government agencies, our museums and shrines almost any time without cost, or special dispensation.

These advantages are, of course, available to visitors, but for Washingtonians they are a part of every day living. The people who are mere headlines to most Americans are our next-door neighbors, fellow market shoppers, bus-travelers and waiters-in-line at the movies.

Probably the most interesting and challenging experience is getting to know the representatives of the rest of the world's peoples. In no other city is there such an aggregation of foreigners, nor such a unique chance to meet them on an equal social business but the desire of diplomats from nations all over the basis. Here it is not only the world to entertain and be entertained by the representatives of all the American people.

With the ambassadors of some 87 countries living and doing business here, one can practically "tour" the world without even setting foot outside the boundaries of the District of Columbia.

Those on Embassy Row guest lists, and on many occasions those who are not, are privileged to inspect at first hand the furnishings and objects d'art that distinguish their native homes, to savor their exotic national dishes and attend their many cultural programs.

One comes to learn through these varied and seemingly incredible contacts that the similarities are more outstanding and numerous than the differences among the peoples of the world.

Hike Enthusiast Dies

CINCINNATI — Percival James, who thought nothing of taking 10-mile hikes at the age of 80, died Monday of injuries suffered last Nov. 8 as he walked into the side of an automobile after alighting from a bus.

Fatal Explosion
Laid to Suicide

CINCINNATI — A gas blast and resulting fire from what officials say may have been a suicide attempt have caused the death of an elderly widow and burn injuries to a couple and their two sons.

Mrs. Alberta M. Reynolds, about 77, who owns the house where the fire occurred Sunday night, was carried out by firefighters, but was dead on arrival at General Hospital.

Thee Haffner, 45, his wife, Elizabeth, 41, and their son Lance, suffered blast injuries and are in serious condition. Another son, Mike, is in fair condition.

Fire Marshal Ralph Corsmeier said Mrs. Haffner told firefighters she tried to take her own life by turning on gas jets.

Cincinnati Wife, 31,
Is Accused in Slaying

CINCINNATI — Police have charged Mrs. Joyce Todd, 31, with murder in the kitchen-knife slaying of her husband.

The victim, Robert Todd, 31, was found dying in front of his home here Monday and his wife, standing over him, was screaming hysterically, officers said.

Investigators said the couple had apparently quarreled after Todd came home late. Todd had lost his job Sunday as a bartender.

Here's How To Create New Star for Western Movie

Editor's Note: Following is the second in a series of articles tracing the history of the ever-popular western movie.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — How to create a Western star:

Find a big fellow—6 feet 2 and a well-built 190 pounds, 33 years old with some stage training and a little movie experience, born in the western United States, though not on a ranch. Teach him how to draw a gun fast and how to sit on a horse. Have him move slowly—unless provoked—and say his lines without much expression.

That's all there is to it! Of course, it's not that easy. Those are merely some conclusions I have reached after studying all the adult Westerns on TV and averaging the specifications of 15 top gunslingers on the home screens.

There is no such thing as an average Western star, of course. They range from sagebrush veteran Ward Bond, 52, (Wagon Train) to 24-year-old Pat Conway of Tombstone Territory.

Four of the Western stars were born in Los Angeles, of all places. Only Dale Robertson, the Oklahoma Kid, appears to have an authentic Western background. He stars in Tales of Wells Fargo.

One thing is certain: you gotta be tall. Maybe not as tall as Jim Arness (Gunsmoke) and Clint Walker (Cheyenne), who scrape the barroom ceilings at 6 feet 6. But you can't be less than six feet and expect to cut the mustard.

These Western heroes have shot down their opposition with deadly accuracy this season.

What makes them so convincing? A man like Arvo Ojala helps.

Ojala is a ruddy-faced young man from the Yakima Valley of Washington who is deadly with a gun. Not that he ever shoots anyone. But he helps the TV gunslingers look as rapid on the draw as Billy the Kid.

As an actor in Westerns, he recognized that a good many Western heroes were clumsy on the draw. He designed a new kind of holster, metal-lined for quick withdrawal of the gun.

"The barrel and the chamber don't touch the sides of the holster," he explained.

Ojala (the name is Finnish) has supplied holsters and coaching to James Garner, Hugh O'Brian, Wayne Preston, Clint Walker and dozens more.

"First I teach them gun safety," he said. "You can hurt yourself badly, even with blanks. The important thing is to start the draw from a relaxed position with the thumb out to pull back the hammer as the gun is drawn up. I favor the single-action Colt .45."

City Parking Lots
Not Tax Exempt

COLUMBUS — The State Board of Tax Appeals has ruled two off-street parking lots operated by the city of Delaware are subject to real estate taxes.

The city had asked exemption but the board ruled that because motorists are charged parking fees the taxes have to be paid.

The board cited a Jan. 2 Ohio Supreme Court decision that the Long Street parking garage in Columbus, which charges parking fees, is subject to real estate taxes.

Bay Village Asks
For Sheppard Fund

CLEVELAND — Officials of Bay Village claim that since the suburb hired Cleveland police to investigate the Sheppard murder case, Bay Village is entitled to the $10,000 reward posted by the family of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

So Village Council decided Monday night to put in a claim. The money already has been claimed by the Cleveland Police Pension Fund, but the county commission, which will administer the reward fund, has turned a deaf ear to pension fund claims.

Bay Village officials did not comment on whether the reward money, if they get it, would be used to help pay the $14,333 the city of Cleveland is demanding for conducting the investigation.
